O.H.I.P. Pays and the Heidi Fund Over The Top

On Heidi's sixth birthday, her mother, Christine, got a present as well. It was in the form of a letter from O.H.I.P.

which said in part 'due to the special circumstances of this situation, O.H.I.P. will pay 100% of standard ward care and 100% of the physicians fees for the operation in Texas.'

And now on Canada's Birthday, more good news has arrived. Belleville businessman Maurice Rollins presented a cheque for $3000 which put the fund over the $10,000 mark. The Hastings and Prince Edward County Medical Association has donated $200, and has asked it's members to donate $50. each. This could add another $2500 to the fund. And that's not all. An unidentified donor in Toronto has also sent a cheque for $3000. for the fund. That's almost $9,000 in the past week. Added to the almost $8,000 in the North Hastings Credit Union, and the $1700. in the Madoc Benevolent Society fund, it looks as though there will be more than enough to meet Heidi's expenses.

A weary Christine Morgan says that she feels her long struggle with bureaucracy has been worth while. It has been quite a strain, she said noting that a few weeks ago she collapsed during a meeting with officials from O.H.I.P. and had to be taken to hospital. A heart attack had been suspected but the problem was diagnosed as acute anxiety. Currently under a physicians care herself, she is having to make increasing visits to doctors and hospitals with Heidi. Heidi's attacks of nausea and vomiting, together with high temperatures have increased of late.

In reviewing the past few months, Christine Morgan says that she would not have been able to do it without the help and support of so many kind people in the community. A big turning point came she said, when she applied for legal aid and hired a lawyer. 'It means a lien on my house, but it was worth it' she added. She has disposed of a large quantity of her antique inventory to three other dealers to finance her travels to various centres for meetings with officials, trips to hospitals and doctors for Heidi and the fund raising functions she has attended.

She reiterated her intention of writing to every donor to the Heidi Fund to thank them for their support. Careful records have been kept of all donations by the North Hastings Credit Union in Bancroft. 'Every nickel that was given to me is recorded and kept strictly for the fund,' she said.

Peter Gevaert, Manager of the Credit Union in Bancroft says that the fund will be administered from there.

He will purchase the plane tickets as soon as he is given a date and will pay the bills as and when they become due.

Commenting on her spruced up house, Christine said, 'People are so kind. I bought a load of gravel and a local good samaritan came over and spread it for me and another gentleman came and cleared out the weeds and brush.' She went on 'Did you know that when I was at the Black Diamond Cheese factory for a presentation of a donation, the people there, when they learned that Heidi's birthday was coming up, held a spontaneous collection and handed me about $100 saying it was for Heidi's birthday party.'

With the battle with O.H.I.P. over and the tremendous support from the community, there is a light at the end of the tunnel for Christine and Heidi Morgan.

Judge's Comment on Madoc Court

At the Provincial Court, Criminal Division, held in Madoc on June 16th, Provincial Court Judge J. Cassells addressed the court prior to trial proceedings.

He commented on the fact that the court has no holding cell and that there is no prisoner dock. He added that there are several serious security problems in the courtroom when it is sitting. Because of this, he went on to say 'shortly all person in custody on whether adult or youthful offenders will be taken to base court and dealt with there, that is in Belleville. This is of course because there is a facility there and a proper dock there.'

Judge Cassells then commented on the serious overload problems in the court at Trenton and in view of the comparatively light lists for the Madoc court in the next few months, he feels that it is extremely important to spread the judicial time over those areas where it is obviously needed.

Accordingly, Judge Cassells said, there will be no Criminal Division Court nor Youth Court sitting in Madoc on August 25th, September 22nd, September 29th, October 27th, November 3rd and 24th, December 22nd, and 29th. This does not affect Provincial Offences Court which will continue to sit in Madoc on a regular basis.

As far as the Courtroom Security was concerned, Judge Cassells said that he didn't wish to go into any details at the moment because it is a matter under discussion with the relevant Police Forces. He said that in 1985, the Provincial Government had increased it's grant to Belleville and Trenton to enable those police forces to provide proper security in the courts there.

He ended his remarks by commenting on the lack of an interview room saying, 'What we have downstairs is a kitchen with which they have to make do and I don't think, quite frankly, that's good for the accused or his lawyer especially when you end up with more than one person in there overhearing what's going on.'

Sgt. T. St. Germain was unable to make any comment on the situation due to the fact that the matter is under review and discussion.

It should be noted that the Judge did not single out the Madoc facility for it's shortcomings.

He mentions both Belleville and Trenton courts as having less than desirable working conditions.

Liability Insurance For Fairs

The problems involved in obtaining liability insurance for public functions seem to be escalating at a rapid rate.

There is insurance coverage available but at exorbitant rates and with severe limitations and restrictions.

Insurance for the International Plowing Match is in place, but Horses are prohibited.

If you are lucky enough to see an exhibition of horse drawn plowing, it will be because the individual plowman has personally obtained liability insurance in the amount of $1,000,000.

Unless there is a big change in policies in the near future, it is unlikely that you will get to see any event involving horses at the local fairs; and extremely high premiums, when and if available, will see the demise of demolition derbies, and probably tractor pulls.

Bob Hawley, President of the Madoc Fair Board, says 'I'm optimistic that we will get some sort of coverage but what it will be, I have no idea at the present time. We don't know what events will be restricted or eliminated due to insurance regulations.'

He went to say that there is a group of some twenty insurance companies banded together that are accepting applications for liability insurance. Each application is screened by the group and premiums are decided upon, on an individual basis by an underwriting company.

Commenting on a newspaper article, Hawley said, 'There are about 132 fairs that are currently waiting for a decision on insurance and quite possibly some of these fairs will not take place.'

It's a waiting game right now and August the 1st seems to be the date when we shall hear the fate of our fairs.

Open Letter to Pat Carney

Pat Carney, Energy Minister,
 House of Commons, Ottawa, Ontario.

Dear Pat Carney:

As a very concerned citizen for world peace and security, I am writing to encourage you to call an inquiry into the nuclear industry in Canada.

I do not believe that nuclear technology is safe. In fact, the prospects of living with it are quite dangerous and well documented. It is really too bad that we, as humans, must wait until 100's of 1,000's of our own species are terminally ill and dying before we even begin to see the "writing on the wall".

I believe that the nuclear industry should stop now. In fact, it should have happened the day the Chernobyl accident took place.

AND from this point on, we should begin to deal with the backlog of wastes we have already produced; spent fuel bundles, uranium

mining tailings, nuclear power plants
 that are not now in production and the ones that have never been safe enough to be put into production, and the many other by-products of the nuclear conglomerate.

It is about time that we realized that we all share this planet together. And it is about time that Canada took an active role in saving ourselves from ourselves.
 Canada has demonstrated, only by words, never by actions, that it is a morally conscious political country. It is about time we began to deal with these problems. My God, before it is too late.

Let us make Canada a nuclear free country. Do not allow the United States to enter us into their very dangerous fantasy. STAR WARS through the
 "backdoor" by way of the Norad agreements. THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS THE PEACEFUL ATOM TECHNOLO-GY. We are demonstrating that spending great amounts of money on facilities at D ton so we can

Premier Peterson's Reply to Open Letter

The following is Premier Peterson's response to a carbon-copy of a letter of concern sent to Pat Carney Canada's Energy Minister on May 19, 1986.

Ms. Janice R. Brown, RR 1, Thomasburg, Ont.
 K0K 3H0

Dear Ms. Brown:
 Thank you for sending me a copy of your letter to the Federal Minister of Energy concerning the tragic events that recently occurred at the Chernobyl

nuclear plant in the Soviet Union.

In light of the widespread concerns that have characterized Ontario's nuclear generation program since the Chernobyl accident, I have asked the Honourable Vincent Kerrio, Minister of Energy, to initiate a review of Ontario Hydro's

 nuclear operations.
 This review will focus on the impacts of past technological decisions on the strength of Ontario's electricity supply system, as well as assess the current security arrangements and ency planning ses in eff

 the province.
 Please be of my Gover continuing a to this very tant matter.
 Sincerely,
 David Peterson

Madoc Village Council Highlights.

The regular monthly meeting of Madoc Village was held on Thursday June 24 with all council members present.

A report from the Environment and Health Committee touched on the proposed Waste Management Study and its expected cost to the village. With the Ministry of Environment subsidizing 50% of the total costs, the villages share is expected to be about $900. A discussion on garbage collection took place concerning pick up procedures, and safe containment of garbage put out for pick up. Comments were made about garbage put out overnight and becoming targets for dogs, racoons, etc. that tear open the bags. Councillors Matchett and Harrop will be investigating the situation in the near future.

Jim Patrick asked Council for a long term lease on the Hill property that was recently purchased by the village. He had been leasing the land from the previous owner and wanted some assurance of a reasonable lease period before investing more money in seed and fertilizers. Council agree to give Mr. Patrick first refusal to rent on an annual basis.

Rudi Wyclisse and Lloyd Nugent were in attendance to discuss road maintenance subsidies in general and connecting link roads in particular. Following a clarification of procedures, a review of records will be undertaken to ensure that the village receives maximum benefits from available subsidies.

Council passed a motion to petition the M.T.C. to investigate the installation of traffic signals at the intersection of Highway 7 and 62. The M.T.C. officials pointed out that a survey was done in 1981 and at that time the situation indicated that about 50% of the criteria for installation of signal lights were being met. Based on annual traffic patterns and growth it was felt that probably the intersection met about 60% of the criteria.

Another study will be undertaken. Council also requested that the intersection at Hwy 7 and Cooper Road be illuminated. M.T.C. will assess this situation at the same time.

The Hydro Commissioners approached council with a request for funding to help defray the cost of the new roof on the fire hall. After much discussion and analysis of the financial situation of Hydro, council decided to withdraw the previous offer of $1,000 and offer instead an increase in the monthly rental for the fire hall. The Hydro Commissioners agreed to discuss this proposal and report back to council with an answer.

The County Board of Education had submitted an offer to purchase the unpaved parking lot immediately north of the Public School. This offer was rejected and a counter offer will be returned to them with an asking price of $22,000 this being the appraised value of the lot.

By laws are being processed through appropriate channels covering the erection of no parking signs on St. Lawrence East in the vicinity of the Kiwanis Centre and on Durham, just south of the Dixie Lee. Also for handicapped parking spots on Durham N. near the Health Unit, The Hair Stop and at the Medical Centre.

When the present landfill site was purchased, the previous owner asked for and was granted access to the site at any time to draw gravel and deposit his own garbage.

With the tightening of the application of regulations governing landfill sites, this situation could present problems. In a recorded vote, Madoc Village Council passed a motion that would see the garbage dump operating strictly within regulations. The facility can only be used when it is officially open and is under supervision.

Madoc Village council received a petition against a dog which has been harassing pedestrians and terrifying some of our senior citizens. As a result the complaint will be investigated and the by-laws governing animals with the village will be reviewed. It is reported that the dog has caused problems before and that it's owners had been charged and fined.

At the International Plowing Match, there will be a Municipal Exhibits Tent and Madoc Village has got a booth booked there. It's in an ideal spot, just inside the main entrance with a clear view across the tent. Here's your chance to visit the booth and talk to the council representatives and find out what's in store for Madoc.

Rylstone Womens Institute

BY MARY MCKEOWN

Wife abuse cuts across all strata of society. Men have been taught the myth that women are their possessions. Men who batter are not mentally sick, but emotionally sick, in that they do not know how to appropriately deal with their anger. Ninety per cent of men who abuse their wives watched this same thing happening when they were children.

The typical cycle of wife beating has three phases - the fension building phase, the abuse phase and the honeymoon phase. During the honeymoon phase the husband promises never to become violent again - but he always does.

Three Oakes Home, just outside Belleville, in Thurlow Township, provides refuge for battered women and their children. Gloria Savage, Executive Director of Three Oakes, spoke at the June meeting of the Rylstone Women's Institute. This home was established in 1983 on Charles Street in Belleville, but was denied proper zoning in the city. A rezoning application is coming up again in a few months and people are encouraged to write to Belleville City Council to allow Three Oakes Home to be relocated in the city. This home services Hastings County as well as Belleville, but would be much handier in the city for transportation.

Gloria Savage also stated that there is a self-help group for women still living in a violent situation at St. Thomas Parish Hall every Wednesday night at 7 p.m.

Roll call for the WI meeting was to bring non-perishable food for Three Oakes' kitchen.

A substantial amount of food was collected for this worthy cause.

President, Mrs. Jessie Kerr, chaired the meeting.

In lieu of donating pies and muffins to the plowing match W.I. tent, it was decided that Rylstone W.I. send $10 per member from the branch funds.

A lively "name that tune" sing-along was provided by Dorothy Thomson on the piano.

The next activity of Rylstone WI will be the annual community potluck picnic and barbecue on the lawn at the home of Paul and Mary McKeown. Swimming and games in the afternoon. Supper at 6:30. Please bring lawn chairs. Everyone welcome.

The United States is close to getting an additional three weeks of Daylight Savings Time. It seems that all that is needed is the President's signature to bring into law a Bill that would see Daylight Savings Time begin in the first week of April rather than the last. If it does become law, Canada will likely follow suit.

A recent news item reported that diamond drilling for gold in the Bannockburn area has showed some spectacular gold showings. These showings of gold in the core samples are not common place. Rather, the article says, modern mines draw invisible gold out of rock ore, and need about 200,000 tons of ore containing only one quarter of an ounce per ton to be viable. Now that sounds like a lot of ore but it could produce about 50,000 ounces of gold and at today's price of the precious metal that represents a lot of money.

TOWNSHIP OF MADOC CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL REPORT AT DECEMBER 31, 1985

- (a) Approval of the Ontario Municipal Board has been obtained for the long term liabilities in (a) issued in the name of the Municipality.
- (c) The Municipality is contingently liable for long-term liabilities with respect to title drainage loans. The total amount outstanding as at December 31, 1985 is $4,711 ($1984 $5,123) and is not recorded on the "Consolidated Balance Sheet".

	1985	1984

Reserve funds not aside for specific purposes by legislation, regulation or agreement
-> For Ontario Home Renovation Loans		107,944
Total Reserve Funds		107,944

8. Charges for Long Term Liabilities

The charges for long term liabilities assumed by the non-consolidated entities or by individuals in the case of title drainage loans are not reflected in these statements.

9. Ontario Home Renovation Program

Effective January 1st, 1985, amendments to regulations require that the Ontario Home Renovation Program funds be accounted for as a trust fund, rather than as a reserve fund. The transfer of the opening fund balance of $107,944 is reflected in the Consolidated Statement of Operations classified as Planning and Development. The 1985 transactions for this Program are reflected in the Trust Funds Consolidated Statement of Continuity of the Municipality.

Feasibility Study

The Government of Ontario has announced that a $30,000 feasibility study will be carried out on the abandoned rail line between Marmora and Lake St. Peter with a view to converting it into a recreational corridor. It is hoped that it's terms of reference will be broad enough that the findings will be applicable to other abandoned rails lines in the County.

Carroll Baker to appear at Norwood arena July 5

Canada's country music star, Carroll Baker, will be featured in concert at the Norwood arena July 5.

The Norwood Lions Club is hoping for a sell-out house for this special volunteer firefighters training centre fund-raising event.

Carroll Baker will be accompanied by her equally trend-setting, country music award winning musicians 'Backstreet'. Opening the concert will be RCA recording artist and songwriter J.K. Gulley.

Carroll Baker is the recipient of every major country award in Canada including 'entertainer of the year'. With her clear, powerful voice, her earthy energy and ever-present warmth, she has gone on to become Canada's undisputed Queen of country music.

Record sales of her albums are in excess of one million and she has earned two platinum and three gold LPs and five gold singles. She has had 14 singles reach the top spot on RPM's country music chart.

On the international scene, she has toured England with Slim Whitman playing the London Palladium and Wembley and has had acclaimed performances in Nashville.

There have been three Carroll Baker television specials on CBC. One of these specials was taped at Opryland in Nashville with guest stars The Oakridge Boys, Conway Twitty, Hank Snow, Larry Gatlin and Minnie Pearl. Guest television appearances have included Hee Haw, The Tommy Hunter Show, Nashville Now and CBC Morningside.

She was also the first wuntry performer to play the Imperial Room at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto and appeared in concert at Roy Thomson Hall with the Pops Orchestra.

The Norwood Lions Club has purposely kept the ticket pricing within the reach of the country music fan ($10) in the hope that they can attract people from beyond the immediate Norwood/Peterborough area.

This very special musical evening begins at 8:30pm.

Annual meeting held in Perth

In an effort to increase awareness of the farm crisis in Ontario, Charlie MacGregor, Eastern Regional Manager for the Ministry of Agriculture and Food (OMAF), analyzed recent economic developments in Ontario agriculture for the Bay of Quinte Conference meeting in Perth.

Ontario agriculture in the 1980's has been characterized by fluctuating commodity prices for many products with no sustained growth in prices; increased input costs; decreased real net farm income; and reduction in value of land, he said.

In addition farmers have had to face national and international factors such as government policies, high interest rates, world surpluses of many products, and reduced demand for some products, he said.

FARM DEBT GROWS
Real farm debt in Ontario grew by over 100% from 1962 to 1984. With the net farm income decreasing since 1974.

The financial impact on individual farms varies greatly, he said. A study by the Farm Credit Corporation in 1984 revealed that about 1/3 of farms are debt free. This group tends to have farmed longer, have smaller farms and sell only 13.6% of Ontario farm products.

Another 1/3 of the farmers have less than 81% equity. Average equity in this group is 55%. This group tends to be made up of young, very productive farmers. They produce over 1/2 of all agricultural products in Ontario. The other 1/3 of the farmers fall between these two groups.

PEOPLE PROBLEMS INCREASE
Farm financial problems create people problems unique to farm families.

Failure is hard to accept as farmers face loss of community recognition. The myth the 'farmers never fail' makes failure very hard to accept. Farmers feel isolated and are reluctant to talk about their problems. Usually the family home is on the farm, and failure often means loss of the home. Farmers are reluctant to look at other opportunities and to recognize hope for the future.

HELPLINE INSTALLED

Growing stress in farm families is shown by the increased incidence of suicide and violent deaths on Ontario farms. The OMAF Helpline (an emergency hotline set up for farmers in need) received over 700 calls in its first five months of operation.

'What will the future bring for Ontario farms facing financial problems?' he asked.

He predicted that the financial squeeze will continue to move families out of agriculture, and off-farm income will become increasingly important.

Communities and churches need to respond to the human needs of farm families as they adjust to financial problems by providing self-help, understanding and compassion.

While many farmers will adjust and survive their

Ketcheson family will hold annual gathering

Not every family is as well documented as the Ketcheson family of Belleville and surrounding district.

Although the progenitor of this family, Mr. William Ketcheson 1759-1848 was buried by St. Thomas Church, Belleville, many of his descendants are buried a few miles outside of Belleville - in the Ketcheson Cemetery on the 5th Concession of Sidney Township. This cemetery is kept for the use of the immediate family without gain or profit. An accurate plan has been drawn up showing the location of graves. The fences, drive and entrance are maintained and an accurate registry is kept.

The gathering of the Ketcheson family, which takes place each year on the last Sunday in July, somewhere close to the old homestead, will be held this year at Zwick's Island Park in the form of a potluck luncheon at noon. The usual games and prizes will be awarded, but during the business session, much thought and discussion will be centered on the feasibility of a supplement to the Ketcheson Family History book produced in 1981.

Colonel William Ketcheson and his wife, Nancy Ann Roblin, raised a family of 15 children. It is a long and arduous task to keep all of these generations documented. Many hours of devoted and loving service must be given by young and old, from coast to coast - before a supplement can be prepared for printing.

The present executive of this family is anxious for a good attendance at this important meeting. Members of this family will be present from Northern Ontario, British Columbia, U.S.A., as well as the immediate areas surrounding Belleville - Trenton, Frankford, Tweed, Picton, Wellington and Stirling.

District at a Glance

The annual Ketcheson reunion will be held at Zwick's Island Park, Belleville, Ontario, on July 27th, in the form of a potluck dinner at noon, followed by games for the very young and a memory session for the 'not so young'.

Consumer report

Poorly maintained propane refrigerators can be dangerous.

Although propane fridges can serve their owners safely for many years, annual servicing is vital, say experts with the Ontario Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations (MCCR). In 1985, three Ontario residents were killed by carbon monoxide poisoning when propane fridges malfunctioned due to improper maintenance. In the last decade, 36 people died in similar incidents.

Seasonal operation of the appliances - most are used only during summer months - is a major reason for malfunctions, says Bob Clendinning, Director of the Ministry's Fuels Safety Branch. While sitting unused, the burners and flue passages can become blocked by dust, cobwebs and debris.

If the appliances are not carefully checked and cleaned before they are started again, deadly carbon monoxide could be produced.

In a 1984 tragedy, typical of propane fridge accidents, an elderly couple died when the refrigerator at their cottage produced lethal doses of the gas. Experts later found the propane burner had become fouled.

It was the first time the cottage had been used that year and all the windows were tightly sealed, as they had been all winter. The couple died in their sleep.

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless gas that causes dizziness, nausea, headaches and, in large doses, death.

Owners of propane fridges should have the appliances tuned-up and cleaned as part of the annual cottage-opening routine. Do not operate the refrigerator until it has been serviced, Clendinning advises.

'Unless you're an expert, have the maintenance done by a professional,' he

Your propane dealer will be able to give you the name of a qualified propane refrigerator service person.

Since propane is odorless, a rotten egg or cabbage scent is added to make it easily detectable. If you ever notice this smell, don't light a match or turn an electrical switch on or off. A small spark could cause an explosion.

Open all the doors and windows, leave the building and turn off the propane valve on the outside tank. Call in an expert to find the leak and do not use the appliance until it has been repaired.

Cataracts affect dogs

Dogs don't have the same type of vision as people. They cannot see details as finely as humans and their vision is in black and white. 'Dogs seem to detect motion better than we do,' says Dr. Paule Blouin, a veterinarian at the Faculte de Medecine Veterinaire at St-Hyacinthe, Quebec, 'and they probably don't need as good vision as humans do because they have such sharp senses of hearing and smell.'

Dogs, however, suffer from cataracts just as do people. A cataract is an opacity or cloudiness in the lens of the eye. It can be as small as a speck or it can cover the entire lens.

The lens is a gelatinous mass held in a transparent capsule.

It is located immediately behind the iris which is the colored portion of the eye. The function of the lens is to focus incoming light rays on the retina, which is the light sensitive nerve layer on the back of the eyeball. In a normal eye, the lens and its capsule are completely transparent and light is readily transmitted through them.

Many types of cataracts are hereditary and some breeds of dogs are particularly prone to them," says Dr. Blouin. "It is important for breeders to have their dogs checked yearly for cataracts and not to breed those animals with genetic cataracts." Cataracts are found most commonly in dogs but do occur in other species as well.

There are two types of cataract formation. One is developmental, meaning the defect occurred in the formation and growth of the lens in the embryo.

"In their own homes, dogs with advanced cataracts won't appear to be blind," Dr. Blouin says. "Many people don't realize how well blind dogs get along."

Detecting cataracts
in dogs

The first noticeable sign of cataract development is a bluish or greyish color in the pupil of the dog's eye rather than the normal jet black. The opacity often begins in only a small part of the lens and it interferes slightly with normal vision. As the cataract develops, less and less light reaches the retina. The lens loses its transparency and blocks out incoming light rays. Dr. Blouin says that in really advanced cases, eyesight for the animal is so bad that it would be like looking through a frosted glass window.

Over What Top?

Last week we reported that the Heidi Fund had gone over the top. Based on the original cost estimates of $10,000 it seemed that with the funds received and pledged, the expenses would be well and truly met. On Sunday last, Christine Morgan said that she had been talking to the Humana Institute in Dallas, trying to get some idea of just how much money these operations were going to cost. O.H.I.P. has agreed to pay 100% of the standard ward costs and 100% of the physicians fee if Heidi goes to Dallas. That is a fact and it would appear that this would take care of most of the hospital expenses. However, according to Christine, O.H.I.P. payments would not cover the cost of Intensive Care, special nursing, bandages, medication, X-Rays, intravenous fluids, tubings, kleenex, and the dozens of other items that are commonly used in hospitals. The system, as explained to her, is that every item is charged for separately, even bathroom tissue, so there is really no way to estimate the costs.

Dozens of local people have experienced the high cost of hospitalization in the United States and, for a simple broken leg, the costs have run into the thousands of dollars. So, what is the top? How much really needs to be raised? At this point it is pure guesswork. Six months after the initial operation, Heidi has to return to the hospital for a check-up and possibly more surgery, with the possibility that this second trip could be as expensive as the first one. Christine said that she was elated when O.H.I.P. made their ruling and when the recent large donations bumped the fund over the target, but after getting this new information from Dallas, she is back to worrying again.

"There is still a light at the end of the tunnel," she said, "but it's not quite so bright"

Country Store Sale a Success

Is the lady laughing at the cooks or a joke?

On what must have been the hottest and muggiest Saturday in many a moon, the Kiwanians held their Country Store Sale. Club members and their wives had worked hard over the past month or so, collecting donations of merchandise, and money and selling raffle tickets on a V.C.R. and a Teddy Bear.

Bill Knight and Jack Terry were the chief honcho's in promoting and pushing this project along and a few of the past club meetings sounded more like a sales meeting of the companies they once worked for. Their enthusiasm and hard work paid off handsomely. This is not to say that the other club members didn't do their share. They did, and then some. The local businessmen and others in the community did their share too for without their generous support this event could never have been. The doors opened at ten o'clock to brisk business and for the folks manning the tables there was some small comfort from the ceiling fans. However the cooks(?) sweltered outside over a hot charcoal fire providing hamburgers for the hungry.

In the clubroom after the sale, the day's receipts were tallied. A whopping $3400 was raised from the days activities, a figure much higher than anticipated.

The funds raised from this sale are destined to be used to send local handicapped children to the Quinte Therapeutic Riding Association programme and Don Mullen the Executive Director of QUINTRA was on hand to draw the winning tickets for the raffles.

The Teddy Bear went to Trenton but the VCR stayed in Madoc. Don Keller was the lucky winner of the VCR and ten free movie rentals. President Richard Matchett complimented the club members on their efforts and paid special tribute to the wives. "Without their support," he said, "this club would not be in the position it is to-day. They deserve our thanks."

Bigger and Better 'Rec' Hall

On the 23rd of April a disastrous fire hit the workshop and recreation hall at Campkin's Camp-In on Quin-Mo-Lac road. The fire completely levelled both buildings and destroyed a considerable amount of equipment. For the past two months construction has been under way and a new workshop is up and covered in and work is progressing on the new recreation hall.

Eileen Campkin says that the new recreation hall will have about 3900 square feet of space. One end of the oblong building will contain a games room and in the centre core will be washroom facilities and showers. At the other end of the building a restaurant and snack bar will be constructed. Proper kitchen facilities will be incorporated into this building and the dining area will be large enough to hold banquets. This is the plan, according to Mrs. Campkin, who says that the facility will eventually be available for group banquets, and weddings. With the hydro hook-ups now completed to the pump and filtering system, the swimming pool will be opened up. In fact, she said, swimming lessons will commence on Monday July 7th. They have been held in a private pool in Madoc. The work crew was busy, banging, and sawing away, trying hard to get the building ready for use on the August holiday week-end. This bigger and better recreation hall will make a big difference to the operation and Jamie Campkin's granddaughters, Lisa, Louise, and Lori are doing their share in helping the work along.

1986 Hunting Season

Deer hunting seasons throughout the Central Ontario deer range are basically the same as in 1985. There are some longer seasons in some areas for gun hunters and archers due to increasing deer herds. Additionally, some Wildlife Management Units will have new archery seasons.

The Deer Selective Harvest Tag Draw for an antlerless tag will remain essentially the same as last year. Application forms for validation tags will be attached to the 1986 Resident's or Farmers Deer Licences which are available now.

If you are going to make application for one of these tags, be sure to fill in the form completely and correctly, otherwise the application will be rejected. These applications must reach the M.N.R.

Fish and Wildlife branch by 5 p.m. Thursday, July 31st 1986 in order to qualify for the draw.

If you are interested in hunting in a W.M.U. with controlled hunter numbers, you must make application at the MNR office in the area that you wish to hunt.

To be eligible for the draw, applications must reach the MNR District Office

Letter to the Editor...

Dear Sir:

Through your columns, I would like to protest the official use of hormonal herbicides like 2-4-P, for brush control. One grows used to their effects along one or two farmers fields where corn is grown year after year. Private greed is easy to recognize. When such sprays are used by councils, such as Elzevir and Grimssthorpe, the explanation is more difficult to arrive at. Everybody knows that such sprays in an already over-loaded environment do not help. Surplus filters through the swampy ground and into water. Sunlight, which is supposed to diffuse the muck, is already being asked to do more than its fair share, especially in a wet season. The solvents stink for days. The roadsides are turned into brown strips reminiscent of the township dump, which will certainly cheer tourists to the area. Why this method of control - more typical of 20 years ago than now - should be used a few weeks after National Environment Week and a few months before visitors come to the International Plowing Match is beyond comprehension. When so many are unemployed in the area, it would also seem to make better short-term economics to clear by hand. The idea that such poisons 'disappear' in air that has not been clean for a long time is foolish. It's more than dollars to add up.

In the meantime, to those visitors from the Snyder School of Art, I would say bring a lot of brown paint this year, a gas mask if you have one, and bottled water. You can get a list from the Ministry of the rivers and lakes from which you shouldn't eat fish. And, on behalf of Elzevir and Grimssthorpe, welcome to beautiful Ontario. To the neighborhood children, I would only say, Remember the contempt with which your parents treated your inheritance. Yours sincerely,

Barry Argyle,
Madoc

Molson Super Bike Challenge

Motorcycle fans will have a chance to see some top riders compete in the Molson Superbike Challenge to be held at Shannville Motorsport park on July 26th and 27th.

The only two riders to have recorded lap times under 50 seconds on this track will be in this competition. Both hold the record with identical times of 49.97 seconds and will be going head to head to see just who is the fastest.

Art Robbins from West Hill and Michel Mercier of Mississauga are the two to watch as Robbins pits his Yamaha T2750 against Mercier's Suzuki GSX-R750. There is a dark horse in this event, a rookie, 22 year old Tom Douglas of Montreal who has scored fourth and fifth place finishes on the Shannville course and is looking to improve his position on his Yamaha FZ750.

The Molson Superbike Challenge is the third event in the six-race Castrol National Championship series and promises to be an exciting competition.

The sixty-second Holmes' Reunion was held Saturday, June 21st, at the home of Ross Fleming, Madoc. With one of the smallest gatherings in years, with just around 50 attending, the reunion started with a delicious pot-luck dinner. Marie LeBlanc took over the program. There was one minute silence observed in memory of the deceased members during the past year. Those remembered were Aileen Pike, Mrs.

Arthur Wartman and Cecil Wartman.

Prizes were given out for the following:

Youngest Bobby - Bradley Thomas Foley, son of Nancy Holmes and Paul Foley.

Couple who has been married the longest - Fred and Vi Bird of Trenton (forty-nine years).

The oldest man was Earl Wartman of Madoc, while the oldest lady present was Jessie Holmes of Queensborough.

There were several other prizes given for different items.

'This is your life', was given by Mrs. Allan Sager in honor of Frederick Bird of Trenton.

Leslie Holmes of Queensborough vacated his seat as President and Frederick Bird has become the new President.

It was decided that next year the reunion would be held at the home of Ross Fleming's on June 20th, 1987.

The Holmes name has been part of the Madoc Township

Tweed Festival

Tweed's Summer Festival '86 is happening! On Saturday, July 26th, artists, artisans and craftspeople (persons?) will gather on Spring Street in the Centre of Tweed to display, demonstrate and make available for sale a diverse array of work and skills.

Most of Tweed's service, business and social organizations contribute their resources and talents to the Festival and this is what gives real meaning to the 1986 theme, 'a celebration of community'.

Festivities will commence when the restored Tweed Playhouse, with its podium stage, once again reverberates to the sound of a theatre organ when 'The Phantom of the Opera' stalks the screen during the Silent Movie Show. Comic relief in the form of The Keystone Cops and Charlie Chaplin will add to the Friday night show scheduled for the evening prior to the Festival day Saturday.

The Festival's activities will draw to a close with a dance to the sounds of the 'big band' era to be held in the Tweed Pavilion on Saturday night. This pavilion, perched on the shore of Stoco Lake is one of the remaining examples

Drinking and Driving

drinking and driving program to the summer months with the help of students in communities across Ontario.

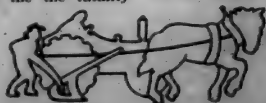

The Ministry's 'Arrive Alive '86' program will employ 88 High School students in 39 communities of the province. The program encourages young people to get involved in anti-drinking and driving efforts by planning a program suited to their particular community and carrying it out at the local level.

This program, conducted at the grassroots level will hit close to home, said Mr. Scott, 'just as the the fatality statistics concerning drinking and driving have hit close home for so many people in the province'.

Participating students will be performing skills talking on radio a television show setting up information booths in shopping malls and summer festivals. They will also be making presentations to local clubs and organizations and distributing information throughout tourist areas and campgrounds.

Two students from Moira Secondary School will be chosen for this program and will be under the guidance of Mr. Garrity 962-8668.

Eldorado Fundraiser

Peterborough's Laid Back Pitcher.

On Sunday the Eldorado Eldors and a team made up of radio personalities from CKQM 105 and CKPT in Peterborough, put on a baseball game in aid of the Heidi Fund.

Heidi officially opened the game by tossing out the first pitch to the delight of the onlookers. She watched the grown-ups play ball for a while and then went off to play with her friend and pick wildflowers for her mother.

During the game, Christine Morgan said 'I'm constantly amazed at the kindness and generosity that I've encountered. I wish I could find a way to repay each and everyone. The emotional support I've gotten from the community response to Heidi's problem has given me the strength to carry on.' She went on, 'Please convey my thanks to all the people who participated in this event.'

She and Heidi were then whisked off to a chicken bar-b-cue and a chance to cool off in the swimming pool of an Eldorado Eldors player and his family. Brian Plumble reported that the total raised came to $450. A collection was taken up at the Madoc Hotel on Saturday which raised $130, and this amount was matched by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bancroft.

Only the successful applicants are notified in both of these draws.

Abraham Holmes and his wife, Ellen Watt left Kingston and settled near Hazzards Corners. They had a family of eleven children. In 1870 they moved to another farm just north of Queensborough.

There are many of their descendants still living in the Madoc Township area, of this proud couple, who gave up their home in Kingston to help open a new area.

Pollution Controls

For decades, Ontario's philosophical basis has effectively been to allow discharge of as much pollutant as a waterway can assimilate without becoming unstuck.

Under the new policy, the goal will be the virtual elimination of persistent, toxic substances from discharges into Ontario's waterways.

The importance of this cannot be overstated. Under the old approach, Ontario, basically, moved to curb or reduce contaminant discharges - or to merely dilute them further - only when obvious problems developed. And the level of pollution at which things became unstuck became a matter for eternal debate - was it the level at which fish contained contaminants, or only when every last creature died?

The old approach has been seriously flawed in other ways, too. With 500 chemicals being developed or introduced to the industrial repertoire each year, all can't be exhaustively tested - for long-term effects, for concentration in the food chain or for synergistic effects with other chemicals. PCBs provide a case in point. In widespread use for nearly 50 years as a transformer coolant, they were assumed to be basically innocuous if 'diluted' and were regularly disposed of - in dumps, by washing spills into sewers and even mixed with waste oil for dust spraying on gravel roads. It was only coincidentally - when biologists noted collapse of gull reproduction that the full risk became clear. Although you, I and everyone alive now has PCBs in their system, we were fortunate that the gull collapse forewarned us of serious problems, and led to stringent controls.

The new policy will, basically, assume that toxic chemicals are going to pose problems, and work for their elimination, rather than holding emissions just below the level expected to produce problems.

This is precisely the change which the Federation of Ontario Naturalists has been advocating - coupled with creation of state-of-the-art hazardous waste disposal facilities, and a cleanup of existing leaking dumps.

There are a number of key components to the 'Municipal-Industrial Strategy for Abatement' as the new policy is called. It:

- states first and foremost that the objective will be elimination of toxics in discharges.

- stipulates use of best available technology. Many industries, like older pulp and paper plants, are still using archaic, outdated facilities.

- proposes a review

cycle - the Ministry has suggested 7-10 years for updating technology standards.

- will require discharger to monitor and record contents of effluent. These be collected, spotchecked by Ministry, and data will provide the first comprehensive picture of what is going into Ontario water.

- The Ministry separately told that he will be using legislative regulatory amendments to increase pollution penalties.

other animals if they are reported to a ministry office within a specified length of time. The caller must leave his name and address and state the species and number of carcasses acquired as well as the date, place and circumstance of the acquisition. Black Bear, Deer, and Moose acquisition must be reported immediately. Other animals or birds must be reported within two working days and carcasses of protected birds such as owls, eagles, falcons, herons, vultures etc., must be taken to a ministry office within five working days after acquisition for registration by a ministry official.

There are some exceptions to the reporting of these animals and birds, and they pertain to persons who lawfully kill, trap, or possess wildlife under the authority of a licence. Commercial taxidermists will not have to report carcasses brought into them for processing if they were taken under a licence or have been reported to the MNR as a road kill. They will have to maintain a register of details of species, dates, and certificate or licence numbers.

Tom Corbett, Supervisor of the Fish and Wildlife department of the MNR at Tweed, says that the ministry will probably want to take samples and other data of road-kill animals for biological studies and to determine the cause of death.

The approach will not produce an overnight reduction in the toxic effluents which ultimately wind up in the chemical soup we eat, breathe, drink and move in. But it does provide the direction which has been so sorely needed. With resolve by the Government of the day to implement it, this policy will begin ratchetting down the emissions which have created the present-day legacy.

It's a direction which will have costs for Government, industry and consumers alike. But it's also a policy that will provide for the well-being of this and future generations.

T.V. A Royal Wedding in fact. Prince Andrew and Sarah Ferguson will tie the knot on July 23rd.

CBC will be supplying coverage of this event and they say 'Our reporters are going to bring the excitement of the crowds, the tears and the joy of this wedding' to Canadians.

If you enjoy the pageantry of the Royal Procession and the pomp and ceremony of the church service, don't forget the date.

There's one other thing. It starts at 5:30 am. If that's a tad early for you, you can catch it all on a two hour special that night starting at eight o'clock.

ONTARIO'S CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETIES.

The 51 Children's Aid Societies in Ontario provided service in 1985 to more than 78,000 families, 40,000 of whom received short term, 'brief services' and the other 38,000 required longer term, more comprehensive prevention or protection services.

As of June 30th

1985, 10,580 children were receiving substitute care through Children's Aid Societies. 57% of these were teenagers. About 5,500 foster homes were available or in use at that time.

In the 51 Societies, there were roughly 2,600 professional staff, 750 administrative staff, 4,000 volunteers and 10,000 citizen member represented by almost 1,000 members of CAS Boards of Directors.

The first Children's Aid Society was formed 'to deal with all matters affecting the moral and physical welfare of children, especially those who from lack of parental care or other causes are in danger of growing up to swell the criminal class.' Under the leadership of John Kelso, this first society was formed in 1891.

Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Centre Hastings are looking for more adult volunteers to become Big Brothers or Big Sisters. You don't need special training or schooling, just be a friend to a Little Brother or Little Sister. Share four hours a week with them just doing whatever you normally do - shopping, gardening, tinkering with your car, going on a picnic, swimming, boating, or whatever. Adults and children are carefully matched as far as interests and compatibility is concerned and the matches are monitored to make them as enjoyable as possible for both parties. If you would like to help out and give a little of your friendship to help a youngster find his or her way, call Shirley White at 473-4247 ext 55.

PUBLIC MEETING

A Public Meeting was held in the Elzevir Township Recreation Hall on Tuesday, June 10, 1986. Jack Robinson, Reeve, acted as Chairman of the meeting with D. Brough, Deputy Reeve, and Councillors H. Lewington and S. Roy in attendance. About a dozen people attended the meeting to make representation.

The purpose of the meeting was to inform the public and to hear representation in respect of a zoning by-law proposed for the purpose of rezoning parts of lots 1 and 2, con. 8 in the Township of Elzevir from 'Prime Agricultural' to 'Community Facility', which would permit the zone to be used as a 'Boys and Girls Clubs of Canada Campground'.

Jack Robinson, Chairman, called the meeting to order and called on the Clerk to read the reason for the application and letters concerning it. People expressed their opinions regarding it with B. Foster answering questions. The Chairman then declared the meeting closed.

The Council adjourned to the Council Chambers where Jack Robinson, Reeve, called to order a meeting of Council.

Grader tenders were discussed. It was moved by S. Roy and seconded by D. Brough to advertise tenders in The Intelligencer for the purchase of a motor grader. Carried.

The stings of summer

By Barry Phillips, B. Sc. Phm.
Past President, Ontario College of Pharmacists

Community Pharmacist

Stinging insects are undoubtedly our most unwelcome guests each summer. We're forced to tolerate them, but we shouldn't take their company for granted.

When an insect bites, it releases some saliva to which everyone reacts differently. The reaction may be merely a temporary nuisance or very dangerous.

The sting of a wasp, bee or hornet may mean only a day or two of mild discomfort to most people, but perhaps for one per cent of the population, it can be fatal without prompt medical attention.

The normal reaction is a red, itchy bump. It can be minimized, in the case of a bee sting, by scraping out - not pulling - the barbed stinger. Wasps and hornets withdraw their stingers.

In contrast to a harmless local reaction, there may be a systemic or generalized one. Symptoms include different breathing, palpitations, cold skin, listlessness or fever.

If any of these occur, the patient should go to a doctor or hospital immediately. Someone with a history of such reactions should consult a doctor about medication to have on hand in case of emergency.

While bees, wasps and hornets are the most common summer stingers, don't overlook mosquitoes, blackflies, spiders, fleas and ticks. Your neighbourhood pharmacy stocks various insect repellents and products to relieve itching such as calamine lotion and zinc oxide ointment.

Watch out for infection on bites that have been scratched. Remember to keep your hands clean and have disinfectants handy. Bites on children are best kept covered with light gauze until the irritation subsides.

Rice Lake bass tournament

The sixth annual Rice Lake Bass Tournament will take place July 12th and 13th, with tournament headquarters once again being the Hiawatha Tent and Trailer Park on the north shore of Rice Lake. Tournament registration and competitors' meeting will be held in the Keene Arena on Friday, July 11th, at 7 p.m.

One hundred and fifty two-man teams will compete for over $30,000 in prizes including $12,000 in cash. The field is full. For the first time this year, there will be a free draw for all competitors on a 1986 15' Stryker Bass Boat, a 1986 75 h.p. Mercury Outboard Motor and a 1986 Trailcraft Drive-On Trailer.

Each team can present a maximum of six largemouth or smallmouth bass for weigh-in each day. As this is a live-release tournament, a penalty of 4 ounces will be assessed to the team's weight for any fish that the tournament biologist judges is not likely to survive when released. Prizes are awarded based on the total weight of the fish presented for weigh-in.

The organizers, the Keene Lions Club, are proud to have Molson Breweries, Mercury Outboards, Stryker Bass Boats and Trailcraft Trailers as major sponsors of the event.

Lung Association expands with Trillium grant

Dr. George Vanderburgh, President of the Ontario Lung Association announced July 3, 1986, that approximately $400,000 has been granted to the Lung Association from the Trillium Foundation, an independent organization that distributes lottery money received from the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation for the 1986 association year.

"This special funding will be used to establish 30 programs and projects in more than 13 areas throughout Ontario," states Ross Reid, Executive Director. "The fight against lung disease of all types is a continuing one and the demand for our programs and services in almost every major centre throughout Ontario is escalating.

The Lung Association's strength has been its ability to serve communities throughout the province, and funding requests have been carefully considered to meet the local community needs. As well, the

The Canadian electric li

BY NIGEL BUNCE AND JIM HUNT
College of Physical Science

University of Guelph
It is universally known that the electric light was invented by Thomas Edison and patented by him in 1879. Actually the story is much more complicated. Electric light, in fact, was a technological problem whose time had come and by the mid-1800s many people were working on the development.

The carbon filament lamp patented by Edison was not originated by him, but was actually invented by Sir Joseph W. Swan in England over 30 years earlier. By 1860 Swan had produced a carbon filament lamp, but vacuum technology was not sufficiently developed to produce a well-evaluated bulb that would have a long life.

The next development in the carbon lamp actually took place in Canada and is described in an article in the magazine, Canadian Electrical News, in February 1900. Two Toronto neighbors - Henry Woodward, a medical student, and hotel keeper Mathew Evans - performed simple electrical experiments with a battery and induction coil in 1873. They produced light by the spark at the contacts of the coil, and eventually made a lamp from a shaped rod of carbon held between electrodes in an evacuated glass bulb. In order to avoid Swan's problem with bad vacuum, they evacuated the bulb and then filled it with the inert gas, nitrogen, lengthening the lifetime of the bulb considerably.

The first lamp was constructed at Morrison's Brass Foundry on Adelaide St. West. It was made in a glass tube of the type used for observing the water level in a boiler and connected to five other lamps, in series across a battery. The partners were so enthused that Woodward was sent to Paris to buy an electric dynamo from the famous French Engineer, M. Gramme, for 500

in Canada during 1985. That includes both purchases and sales, for a total of seven-billion shares exchanged.

It is a tremendous amount of money, especially in view of the fact that less than 10 per cent of Canadians own common stocks in a direct way. That is a very low level of stock market participation compared with the United States, where about 25 per cent of Americans own stocks. In Britain the participation rate is about 15 per cent.

But indirectly, there are many more Canadians who are involved in stock market trading. That is because most private pension plans place a large portion of their investments in common and preferred shares. As well, about one-million Canadians have invested in mutual funds (also referred to as investment funds). Depending on the type of fund, the portfolio managers of all equity-based funds

Surgery for Heidi

Heidi Morgan, who underwent several hours of surgery at the Victoria Hospital in London Ontario last Thursday, is reported in fair condition.

A spokesman for the hospital said that Heidi's vital signs were stable but that she is suffering discomfort from the lengthy surgery.

When the report

came in that Heidi was to be admitted on an emergency basis, the spokesperson for Christine Morgan said that if the surgery was not undertaken at that time, Heidi could be blind in the one eye in a matter of days.

The reports from the hospital have been given in general terms without details, and with guarded optimism for the future. Previous reports have indicated that it would be about six months after the initial surgery before any indication of the degree of success of the operation would be visible. There has been no indication as to whether the surgical procedure used was the same as proposed by Heidi's original surgeon, Dr. Ian Munro.

The operation was performed by Dr. Robert Colcleugh, a facial-cranial surgeon who heads up a team of specialists at the hospital. It is reported that Dr. Colcleugh had previously discussed Heidi's problem with Dr. Munro. Dr. Munro was to have performed the operation some time ago, prior to his moving to the United States.

During the coming weeks, there will no doubt, be many questions raised about this affair, but for now, it is hoped that this operation has been successful and that Heidi can look forward to a bright, healthy future.

Summer Fun in the Library

Cheryl Reid, Margaret Anne Thompson, Catherine Darmanin.

Madoc Public Library is the place to be on Wednesday afternoons for 4 to 12 year olds.

The programme of activities called Summer Fun in the Library is funded by a S.E.E.D. grant that was arranged by Peggy Faulkner, librarian at Stirling Public Library.

Three students, Margaret Anne Thompson of Springbrook, a Phys'Ed student at Brock in St. Catharines, Cheryl Reid of Springbrook, a C.H.S.S. student going into grade 13 and Catharine Darmanin who will be entering McGill this fall, organize the games and activities at five locations.

'There is no planned format' said Margaret Anne, 'We Cheryl Reid organizes a circle game on the lawn of Madoc Public Library.

develop activities as we go along, depending on the number of children and their ages'. 'Some groups are shy and some quite active'. There are lots of things to do - outdoor games, movies, cut outs and crafts, singing and so on.

There were about 30 children taking part on Wednesday last. Librarian Rita Sporring said 'A week ago we had about 25 and with six weeks to go we hope to see more children each week.

Gibson Family Leaving Madoc

The Canadian Tire Store in Madoc is changing hands this month.

Ken Gibson, who has been operating the store for the past two years is moving to Newfoundland and will be taking over a Canadian Tire Store in Marystown.

Ken says it is with mixed feelings that he and his wife Barbara are leaving this area. They have made many friends and will be sorry to leave them. 'On the other hand,' he said, 'this move is to a bigger store with more opportunities and we are excited at the prospects.

He says that he has enjoyed his stay in Madoc and that he has tried to give the best possible service, adding, 'I have had a good staff to help in the past two years'.

Ken and Barbara with their children Craig, Dawn and baby Erin will be leaving for Newfoundland towards the end of the month.

We wish them well in their new location

Letter to Editor...

I am writing at the direction of His Holiness Pope John Paul
 I to express his thanks for the book which you sent to him through the kindness of Mrs. Annabelle Pallen. He wishes you to know how appreciative he is of your thoughtfulness and devoted sentiments.

 His Holiness
 assures you of his prayers and cordially invokes upon you the divine blessings of grace and peace.
 Sincerely yours,
 Monsignor G.B. Re
 Assessor, Priscilla Cadwell, Sec., Lester
 B. Pearson Peace
 Park.

Tools For Africa

point for this program which ends July 31st.

Used but useful is the criteria covering such items as shovels, sickles, pickaxes, round neck hoes, crowbars, flat
 spades, chisels, sledges, hammers, weeding hoes hay
 forks, water cans and buckets and so on.
 You can bring these items to the Co-op store or if you are getting a delivery from the Co-op, you can ask the driver to take them for you.

Cash donations can also be made with the money destined to be used to seed and oxen in the countries in need.

The tools will be sent to Ethiopia where the Christian Relief Development Association, which has 36 member agencies, will distribute tools and money.

Car Wash

truck and for $1.50 you'll get a nice clean car and an opportunity to talk to some of the members of this group about their work.

Funds raised from this car wash will go to the Support

Network to help them keep their monthly information meetings going.

Of course, if your car looks clean and sparkly, you feel like giving $2 or $3 dollars, nobody will object.

This support network began some 4 or 5 years ago with a handful of people who were involved in providing social and health services to the Centre Hastings Community and who felt that by getting together on a regular basis, they would not only have a better understanding of each other's role, but would be able to identify and work towards filling some of the gaps in the social service provisions for the community.

These monthly meetings developed into a 'Brown Bag' lunch at which various topics were discussed and plans made to enhance the existing services.

 Guest speakers and groups were invited,
 and indeed, still are,
 to talk to the group about their particular interests. Fairly recently, Michelle De Jong a Public Health Nurse who specializes in A.I.D.S. gave a presentation to the group on that particular disease.

These Brown Bag Lunches are open to any group or individual who are concerned about the quality of life in the community. People from churches, police, community leaders and service clubs are welcome at these lunches. If you are interested in the work of this Support Network or feel that you could make a contribution, or express some special concerns, call the Health Unit in Madoc for details of when the next meeting is to be held.

An executive of this Non-Profit, Incorporated body, Officially known as 'Centre Hastings Community Service Workers' Support Network', deals with the planning and identifies areas of need for closer scrutiny.

A quarterly newsletter is produced and is sent to all members on their mailing lists. It updates what has gone on and looks at what needs to be done. If you'd like to be included in this mailing, please contact Sharleen French at 473-4247.

While this group covers a wide spectrum of community needs, they are always open to input from any member of the community on ways to improve community life. If you have any ideas or thoughts, give them a call.

Tid Bits

TRACTOR PULL

Madoc Minor Hockey Association and the Madoc
 are sponsoring a Tractor Pull at the Fairground on Sunday July 27th.

Scheduled to start at 11 a.m., the programme will cover 12
 classes of vehicles, which will provide thrills and excitement in a variety of events.

Karen Bailey
 reported that they had no difficulty in getting insurance for the event. The Ontario Tractor Pullers Association which sanctions these events apparently have some sort of Umbrella coverage.

Hoping for a big turnout the sponsors have established an admission price of $5.00 for adults, $3.00 for students and $1.00 for children under 12.

VOLTAGE REDUCTION TEST

A voltage reduction test will be conducted by Ontario Hydro on Tuesday, July 15, 1986.

Between 2:30 and 3:30 p.m., and again from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., voltage on the Ontario Hydro electrical grid will be reduced by five per cent.

For most customers, the effect of these two reductions will be imperceptible.

Testing the power distribution grid in this way helps to ensure that, in the event of a generation emergency (such as the breakdown of a large generating unit), there will be no power interruptions.

A five per cent reduction in voltage distributed over the Hydro system is equivalent to reducing more than 500,000 kilowatts of electricity demand. That is the output of a single Pickering reactor and is enough to meet the electricity needs of more than 180,000 homes.

As well, the data collected from the test will help Hydro locate and resolve potential operating or customer

problems.
 Hydro conducts voltage reduction tests once a year.

The camera club of Madoc are busy putting together a slide and picture presentation to be used at the forthcoming International Plowing Match. Shutters are clicking and darkrooms are busy building a pictorial essay on Madoc Village. Look for this interesting exhibit when you visit the Plowing Match.

NEW MOTORBIKE DRIVING TEST

The Ministry of Transportation and Communications have been checking out a new method of testing applicants for motorcycle driving licences. This new test, based on the procedures already in use in 16 of the American States, is considerably more complex and requiring greater skills than the test currently in use.

Because of the current statistics for motorcycle accidents, the Minister felt that a more comprehensive test
 that would demonstrate the applicants skill to a greater degree, was desirable.

It is expected that the failure rate will go up, but in the long run, the test should eventually produce a better quality motorcycle driver.

BIG INCREASE IN RABIES

The number of rabies cases reported in the Hastings and Prince Edward counties for the first six months of this year is more than 50% higher than for the previous twelve months.

There is no way of predicting just how many cases will be reported this year, but one thing seems sure, it will be a record year for reporting.

Foxes seem to be the major carriers of the disease and cubs

born to infected mothers will show the effects later in the fall. If the number of reported cases drops off during the hot weather, they will pick up again later in the year.

Last year, about 100 animals were proven to have rabies, this year, in the first six months, almost 200 animals
 tested positive for the disease.

Nearly 300 people have been treated with vaccine so far this year at a cost of over $500 each. If left untreated in a human, the disease is considered to be fatal.

Centre Hastings Adult Day School

raised about $1300 at the recent Everything Festival '86
 that they sponsored.
 This will go a long way to meeting their expenses.

please do not distribute candy, balloons, etc., during the parade - children run out and get in the way of a float, or machinery and could be injured. (c) Due to Insurance Regulations no horses will be allowed to take part in the parade.

We feel that the parades are an excellent way to promote your business during the Match and we hope that you will put as much effort into your entry for the parades as you do for your display area.

Your parade entry should be planned well ahead of the event since it is hoped that you will view your entry as a moving display.

The local bands and parades committee has put a great

OPP report

During the week of July 4 - 10, officer of the Madoc OPP Detachment investigated 70 general occurrences and 5 traffic accidents.

GENERAL OCCURRENCES

On July 4th, Leon Clement RR4 Tweed reported the theft of his 14 foot 'Stirling' aluminum boat with red bottom. The boat was removed from a wagon in Clement's yard. The boat is valued at $1,200.

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

On Saturday July 5th, at approximately 4:30 am, Beth Evelyn Garniss, 39, of RR3 Madoc was travelling south on County Road 12, 1.7km south of Hazards Corners. Garniss drove onto the west shoulder, swerved back onto the pavement, crossed the road and went into the east ditch. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $3,800. Garniss received minor injuries.

On Wednesday, July 9th, at approximately 1:15 pm, Joseph R Wade, 24, of Oakville was travelling west on Matthew Street in the Village of Marmora. Tillie V. Vilneff, 75, of Marmora was travelling north on North Hastings Street. Vilneff stopped at the stop sign and proceeded north onto Matthew St. and drove into the left side of the Wade vehicle. Vilneff then travelled onto the south curb striking a tree and then a house. Vilneff was taken to Campbellford Hospital by ambulance. Damage to both vehicles was estimated at $7,000.

IN THE COURT

The following cases were heard in Madoc Provincial Court, Criminal Division on Monday 7th July. Steven Booth of Marmora pled guilty to assault and was fined $150, and placed on probation for 18 months.

Terry Glen Howard of Belleville pled guilty to impaired driving and was fined $500 and placed on probation for one year.

CRIME OF THE WEEK

On the 15 March 86 between 10:15 p.m. and midnight William John Fraser parked his truck at the Legion in Marmora. He placed his 9 drawer tool box in the cab of the vehicle for safekeeping and entered the Legion.

When he returned to his vehicle around midnight he discovered his tool box and contents missing. Estimated value of the stolen property is 3000 dollars. Investigation to date has failed to result in the apprehension of the person responsible for this theft or in recovery of the stolen property. Information to date does however reveal that a suspect known to Police was attempting to sell a large quantity of tools and a tool box of similar description to persons in the Marmora area shortly after this theft.

Investigators at Madoc OPP detachment are requesting the assistance of the Public in apprehending the person responsible. Anyone with information in regards to this matter is requested to contact Constable R. Garrow or Constable R. Bonter at 473-4234.

Madoc Township

The regular meeting of council was held at the Township Offices July 7 at 7:30.

Reeve Burkitt and Road Supt. B. Walker of Tudor/Cashe attended Council to discuss maintenance of roads which run through both municipalities. After some discussion with Madoc Township Road Supt. Tom Bruce, it was agreed that there should be no change in the maintenance procedures for these roads.

Council proceeded with final reading of a by-law to amend the Zoning in Part of Lot 2, Concession 4, Madoc Township, to permit the establishment of a multiple residence building containing up to 10 units. It will be subject to Ontario Municipal Board approval. Council also rejected the proposal to re-zone another portion of the same lot for Highway Commercial use because the plans for the property were not specific as to what business would be locating there.

H. Harris supported a motion by G. Reid to apply for a grant under the Futures Program to employ two additional persons for the winter months.

It has come to the attention of Council that a number of individuals are violating the Township Zoning By-Law. Councillor Howard moved, seconded by G. Reid that the Clerk advise these individuals that they are in violation of By-Law 581 and that they should take steps to rectify the situation.

Monuments

We know all the tricks
But we don't use them

Monuments made by different companies are not all the same. They may look the same...for a little while and then the difference becomes obvious, when it's too late to do anything about it.

Shallow or floating foundations can save you money...in the beginning, but what do you do if the monument tips?

Painted letters and backgrounds can also save you money. They look very attractive...for a little while. Then the paint wears off and they're hard to read. And there are tricks to selling cheap monuments...like salespeople who don't know or don't care about what makes a monument last.

There are many tricks. But you'll never see them here. And that insistence on quality monuments has kept us strong for 55 years.

You buy a monument so it will last, in every respect. If you're really serious about your purchase, have a talk with us...tot free.

Disclosure of Adoption Information

Community and Social Services Minister John Sweeney recently outlined changes designed to significantly ease Ontario's laws governing the disclosure of adoption information.

The changes follow years of public consultation and debate and represent the government's response to Dr. Ralph Garber's report on adoption disclosure, which was tabled in the Legislature last November.

The Minister plans to introduce amendments to the Child and Family Services Act after the Legislature re-convenes in the fall. The first change involves non-identifying information. This information includes data on the health and development of the adoptee or general background information on birth parents but does not disclose the identity or location of any of the parties. The government will require Children's Aid Societies, private licensees who place children for adoption and the ministry to release non-identifying information on request to adult adoptees, adopting parents, birth parents, grandparents and adult birth siblings of adoptees.

The government is also going to take a more open approach to the release of identifying information - information that reveals the identity and/or location of individuals involved in an adoption. Access to identifying information will only be available when the adopted child becomes an adult. In addition to birth parents, adult birth brothers, sisters and grandparents will also have access to this information. The consent of both the adult adoptee and the relevant birth relative will be required before identifying information about either is released. The government is also removing the requirement that adoptive parents give their consent to the release of identifying information.

The consent of both parties will also be required before any contact or reunion takes place.

Under the changes, adoption agencies and the ministry will be required to provide interpretive counselling to anyone receiving sensitive or identifying information.

The government also wants to offer assistance to adult adoptees seeking facts about their adoption. Under the plan, the province's adoption disclosure registry will be authorized to perform discreet and reasonable searches only on behalf of adult adoptees who are looking for their birth parents or other biological relatives. The searches will be conducted in absolute confidence by well-trained professionals.

In certain exceptional circumstances, adoption agencies will be able to withhold information. For example, if an applicant is clearly planning to use adoption information to harm someone, the agency will withhold that information. There will be an opportunity for appeal to a review board for anyone denied information to which they would otherwise be entitled.

It is expected that there will be mixed reactions to the changes announced.

However, these changes strike the best possible balance as they are sensitive both to the individual's basic right to privacy and an adult's right to know about his or her past.

FEE CHANGES

The Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations recently announced an increase in fees for certain services offered by the Office of the Registrar General effective July 1, 1986.

There will be no change to the fee for birth certificates - the fee will remain at $5.00.

Under the new schedule, fees for death and marriage certificates will rise from $5.00 to $10.00. To change information on an earlier registration will cost $15.00, which is up from $5.00.

The registration of births, deaths and marriages within one year of the event continues to be free. The fee for late registration will rise from $5.00 to $15.00 under the new schedule.

As for marriages, the fee for a marriage licence and for performing a civil marriage will each be $35.00. It is stated that the new schedule will bring Ontario fees in line with those charged in other provinces.

Hines and Crystal work well

Set in present day Chicago, RUNNING SCARED is a good comedy.

In their first movie together, Gregory Hines and Billy Crystal play two undercover cops named Ray Hughes and Danny Costanzo respectively.

The chemistry between Hines and Crystal works well on screen. Their comic timing is perfect, and they are very funny.

Based on a story by Gary Devore, the screenplay by Devore and Jimmy Huston concentrates on the lives of the two undercover cops. We see them on stake out, at home and in the police station. Devore and Huston have cooked up some exciting chase sequences which add to the fun.

The supporting cast includes Steven Bauer as Frank, an undercover cop; Darlaine Fluegel as Anna, Danny's estranged wife; Joe Pantoliano as Snake, the spike-haired street punk; Dan Hedaya as Captain Logan, and Tracy Reed as Maryann, Hine's love interest.

Filmed on location in Chicago, the film features a spectacular climax inside the Illinois State Building, and ultra-modern, 14 story structure.

The movie is produced by the team of David Foster and Lawrence Turman. Together they have produced several fine movies, including Tribute and Mass Appeal (both starring Jack Lemmon), The Thing (1982 version) and, more recently, Short Circuit.

Under Peter Hyam's direction, Running Scared is a welcome diversion from the summer blahs.

Allergies are Accidental Alarms

By Barry Phillips, B. Sc. Phm.
Community Pharmacist

Like a smoke detector that accidentally goes off, an allergic reaction is basically a protective mechanism of the body which has gone too far.

Fortunately, allergies only affect about 20 per cent of the population and few sufferers need treatment. In many cases, allergies are inherited from parents and grandparents. However, allergic tendencies increase when many allergy-causing substances, called allergens, are present.

Allergies can be seasonal, as in the case of pollen-caused reactions; or year-round if triggered by animals, foods or household dust. Any part of the body may be affected. A reaction to pollen, for example, may cause respiratory problems. Food allergies can cause other discomforts.

Some allergic reactions are caused by contact with various substances including cosmetics, soaps and detergents, dyes, metals, poison ivy and other plants. In cases where the allergy extends to penicillin and the venom of bees, wasps and hornets, the sensitivity can lead to shock and a medical emergency.

If you suspect an allergy - loss of hearing, hyperactivity, or loss of appetite may be symptoms - see your doctor to have him or her identify the cause.

Many medications are available for treatment and should only be taken as prescribed. This is particularly true of inhalants. Use nasal sprays, for example, with caution even if they seem to give immediate relief. Used too often, they can cause damage to tissues and increase swelling.

Your pharmacist will be glad to answer any questions you may have about medication your doctor prescribes for an allergy.

Organization offers to help farmers caught in debt review transition

Farmers who achieve notification from their financial institutions about outstanding farm debts should contact the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, said Harry Pellissier, OFA president.

This applies to any notice served between June 27, 1986, and the actual start date of operation of the Farm Debt Review Board for Ontario.

The Farm Debt Review Act, creating Farm Debt Review Boards across the country, was passed by the House of Commons on June 27, and has received royal assent. However, it has not been proclaimed, and it may take till the week of July 21, to get the Board constituted and operational.

Pellissier's Federation concerned farmers who caught in the gap between the date when the Review Board accepting applications.

The Trent-Severn Waterway

The Trent-Severn Waterway is a spectacular corridor of lakes, rivers and man-made canal stretching 386 km. from the rolling farmland of Lake Ontario, through the shining waters of the Kawartha Lakes, north to the rugged coast and islands of Georgian Bay. The Waterway can be enjoyed by car or by boat - for a day's outing or an extended voyage.

The Trent-Severn Waterway offers visitors to the Peterborough-Kawartha District a wide variety of recreational activities and experiences. Boaters and highway travellers alike can enjoy the scenic beauty and recreational potential of Rice Lake, the Otonabee River which flows through the area's major city, Peterborough, and the warm water of Clear, Stony, Lovesick, Buckhorn, Chemung and Pigeon Lakes.

A century ago, the waterway boomed with the freight and fortunes of post-Confederation Ontario. Farmer, merchant, commercial traveller and timberbaron bought passage from town to town. Grain barge, log boom and graceful steamer all passed up or down the water stairway of the Trent-Severn. Today commerce has given way to pleasure. The Trent-Severn corridor is a natural magnet for boaters, car travellers and tourists. Rich in history and natural beauty, this unique waterway is part of the nation-wide system of heritage resources protected and managed by Parks Canada.

Parks Canada administrators the Trent-Severn Waterway for the recreational enjoyment and appreciation of Canadians and foreign visitors. Over 250,000 boats were locked through the system last year and perhaps as many as a million people took advantage of the day use facilities offered by the Waterway. People enjoyed boating, sailing, fishing, swimming, diving, sun bathing, picnicking, cultural attractions and sightseeing. While the many locks, dams and bridges appear to provide only for navigation of pleasure craft, increasing numbers of visitors are discovering that they also offer a great deal to land based visitors as well. The majority of the lock stations are easily accessible by good roads, and provide picnic tables, clean washrooms, waterfront and lawns for the visiting public.

Many locks are located in close proximity to a water control dam. A view of rushing water along with that of boats being locked through makes for an

Eldorado Minor Ball

By Isabella Shaw.

The Eldorado Beauties have played four league games since their victory at the Midget play-offs and have posted (?) victories.

Travelling to Belleville, the Beauties posted a very convincing 30-6 win over Belleville Malcolms. Andrea Peters went 5 for 6 scoring five runs. Tracey Trotter, Pattie Brownson and Susan Shaw each had four runs apiece.

With three runs each were Tracey Ross, Paula Harris and Heather Kehoe. Suzanne Frank's scored twice and Annette Foley crossed the plate with a solo.

It took a come from behind effort and seven runs in the final at bat to earn a 10-3 victory over Springbrook. A three run homer in the fourth by Andrea Peters scoring Annette Foley and Tracey Trotter gave Eldorado a 3-2 lead. This was erased with a solo shot by Colleen Coffeen in the top of the seventh. But a seven run seventh gave the Beauties the runs they needed for the victory.

On the 8th of July a trip to Belleville to play Belleville Banatms came up with an 8-7 victory. The teams were tied at the end of the first on the strength of runs by Tracey Trotter and Andrea Peters for the Beauties and Shannon May and Laura McCoy for Belleville. Andrea and Tracey scored again in the top of the third to give Beauties a 4-2 lead. Susan Shaw and Linda Bailey gave the Beauties a 6-2 lead in the top of fourth. Belleville scored four in bottom of fourth to tie the score and went ahead by 7-6 score in bottom of fifth. In the top of the sixth Susan Shaw scored the tying run and Paula Harris crossed the plate with the winning run. Final score 8-7 for the beauties. This brings their record 6-1 on the year.

The next evening they hosted Tweed and again fought back from an 8-3 deficit to defeat Tweed Juniors 16-13 after five half innings. Suzanne Franks and Andrea Peters shared mound duties.

Scoring runs for the Beauties were Paula Curtis, Suzanne Franks, Susan Shaw, Linda Bailey, Tracey Ross and Andrea Peters. With singles were Tracey Trotter, Patti Brownson, Paula Harris and Elizabeth Wood.

Home warranty

Anyone planning to buy a home in 1986 should be aware that all new houses in Ontario are covered by warranties.

This province has one of the few mandatory new home warranty systems in the world and you should be sure you understand the benefits provided by this program, says Ralph Lewis of the Ontario Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations (MCCR). 'It offers very valuable protection for all new home buyers.'

The Ontario New Home Warranty Program (NHWPP) was established in 1977 to help promote high quality in the province's housing stock.

In general terms, it ensures buyers of new homes are protected against financial loss to a maximum of $20,000, due to major structural flaws or defects in workmanship or materials. The same amount of protection is provided for purchasers' deposits in the event the builder cannot complete the sale.

For example, if a builder goes bankrupt after you've put down a deposit on a house, but before construction has started, you'd be covered by the program.

The statistics of Shakespeare

By Nigel Bunce and Jim Hunt College of Physical Science

University of Guelph Mathematics and literature would seem, at first glance,
to have little in common. However, the development of statistical methods and computers have introduced powerful new techniques in literary research. In the 1950's two pioneering studies
pointed the way for the use of statistics in literature. One study addressed the controversy surrounding the authorship of the 'Federalist Paper,' a series of 85 U.S. essays published in 1788, which were very influential in shaping the constitution. The authorship has been attributed to James Madison, Alexander Hamilton, and John Jay. Two researchers at Harvard University used statistical analysis of the occurrence of key words to show the overwhelming probability that Madison was the sole author. In a similar study, two British scholars used statistics to establish the order in which Plato wrote his books, thus settling a controversy that had been unresolved for over 1000 years.

The potential for such studies has been greatly enhanced by the modern computer. Recent research concerns a poem discovered in 1985 in the Bodleian Library at Oxford by Gary Taylor and attributed to Shakespeare. The question arises - can statistics be used to prove the attribution or at least support (or even deny) it?

Surprisingly, the basic data for this study was actually obtained 10 years ago when two statisticians at Stanford University, Bradley Efron and Ronald Thisted, completed a statistical analyses of Shakespeare's vocabulary. In fact the basic statistical problem was actually solved in the 1940s by the statistician Sir Ronald Fisher to answer a question in biology. If you collect butterflies at random and catch one species many times, others a few times and still others only once,
then how many uncaught species still exist? Statistics can now supply the answer.

In the Shakespeare study, Efron and

Thisted found that the complete works
consist of almost 900,000 words, 31,534 of them different. Of these, 14,376 are used once, 4,343 twice, 2,292 three times and so on. They tested this distribution against work of Shakespeare's contemporaries and found that the test distinguished clearly the writing of Shakespeare from Donne, Marlowe and Jonson.

Beauty of the landscape

PRESERVING, MAINTAINING THE BEAUTY OF THE LANDSCAPE IS A JOB FOR ALL

The glories of the Great Outdoors are numerous, and its plenty has something to offer everyone.
Curving beaches,
soaring mountains,
rippling streams,
leafy woods - all of these are part of our heritage, to enjoy,
appreciate and preserve.

We show our respect for our nation's natural
beauties through the care we take to ensure their perpetuity.

Removing litter - cleaning up after ourselves and other,
less considerate individuals - is an essential place to begin.

Teach children to do as you do, hunting around campsites
and campfires to collect all stray bits
of paper, empty cans, bits of plastic wrap
and food packaging, etc.

Bag all your refuse, (in paper,
rather than plastic
whenever possible,
as paper is biode-

The poem discovered last year has 439
words and Efron and Thisted predict that it should contain seven plus or minus three new words (it contains nine), four plus or minus two words used once before (the actual number is seven) and three plus or minus
two words used twice before (the actual number is five). The analysis has been gradable), tie each bag tightly, and dispose of the bags in litter cans, if possible, or at marked

disposal sites.

If you can't find one in the vicinity of your campsite, either search for one a distance away, or save your carefully bagged litter till you find one.
LOOK FOR APPROPRIATE DISPOSAL SITES

If you find litter cans which are full to the top, do not drop your litter onto them, or allow litter to fall to the ground, where bags can be ripped open by animals or trampling feet.
Instead, save your bags of litter till a more appropriate disposal site can be located.

It's important to take exceeding care
around cook-outs;
before abandoning a fire, make sure it's completely out, by doubling it thoroughly with water.

If you smoke, don't carelessly throw a cigarette or ashes on the ground and walk away. Extinguish all smoking materials completely. Large forest fires have been caused by something as small as a cigarette butt!

USE THE CORRECT RECEPTACLES

When out boating,
take waterproof plastic bags with you to serve as receptacles for refuse. These bags of litter should be securely closed,
and taken back with you to your campsite, to be disposed of in a proper fashion.

Do not throw garbage overboard.
Few things are more unattractive than bits of floating refuse in a crystal-clear lake.

However, polluting streams and lakes is more than unsightly;
it can change the underwater environment, rendering once-ideal bodies of water unlivable for fish and other aquatic life.

When boating, be

Farm Budget

Generally speaking, the program will provide counselling, job retraining and financial assistance to help farm families make the transition out of farming.

No matter how you slice it, leaving the farm is painful. We're trying to make it a little easier, and at the same time, offer these families skills and hope for a new way of life.

In addition to the Farm Financial Package, the budget extended the farm fuel tax rebate program for another year to January of 1988. This will save primary producers an estimated $120 million on input costs.

And for tobacco farmers, I will be announcing very soon measures to help these producers diversify into other crops.

Now, I'd like to make a few remarks about the Government of Canada's intention to negotiate an enhanced trade arrangement with the United States.

Your organization, and other farm groups, have been discussing the potential of these talks for Canadian agriculture. Some producers are eager. Others have serious concerns.

My view is that we can't afford not to at least talk with our largest agricultural trading partner about better trade relations - especially at a time when the protectionist sentiment among U.S. farmers is on the rise.

Just consider these recent developments:

- countervailing duties on our live swine;
- state bans on swine imports due to the alleged use of chloramphenicol; - harassment of our potato exporters by U.S. potato producers in the State of Maine;

- an anti-dumping duty on British Columbia raspberries;
- and, tough import quotas on certain sugar products.

I believe we have a duty to discuss and resolve these difficulties. We need to find a better mechanism for settling these sort of disputes. We need to decide what constitutes a subsidy on either side of the border. And, we need a better understanding on both sides about our existing farm programs.

Half of all farm cash receipts in Canada are derived from export sales. The United States is by far our biggest export market. That's why we have to go to the negotiating table.

But let's be clear about where we stand: we are not going to barter away items that are part of Canada's unique fabric. We're not about to give up the Canadian Wheat Board, for example - any more than the U.S. is about to give up its Commodity Credit Corporation.

We want to discuss trade irritants and improved access - not negotiate away our particular marketing systems.

The Government of Canada is prepared to talk. But we are not prepared to sign any deal unless it's a good deal for Canadian farmers. We'll be consulting with all sectors of the farm community every step of the way.

In closing, I'd like

Cold route to nuclear fusion

THE SCIENCE CORNER
EXPLORING THE COLD ROUTE TO NUCLEAR FUSION by Nigel Bunce and Jim Hunt

College of Physical Science
University of Guelph

Nuclear fusion is the process by which the nuclei of two or more atoms become fused together to form the nucleus of a larger atom. Nuclear fusion proceeds with the liberation of almost unimaginably large amounts of energy; it is the energy source of the sun and the cause of the destructive power of the hydrogen bomb. If nuclear fusion could be tamed here on earth, then there would be the prospect of unlimited energy resources.

In practice, nuclear fusion is very difficult to achieve.

Suppose that you wished to fuse two nuclei together. Because all nuclei carry a positive electrical charge, nuclei repel each other. The nuclei must therefore be provided with sufficient energy to approach each other extremely closely despite this force of repulsion. This requires a lot of energy. For this reason, most research has concentrated on creating the environment of the sun by producing temperatures of hundreds of millions of degrees in plasma. However, these plasmas are notoriously difficult to manipulate because if they come into contact with the walls of the vessel in which they are contained, all their energy will be dissipated away.

Managing Your Money

by Harry L. Mardon
If you owned a machine that produced the money you and your family required to live on, would you insure it? The answer is obvious: of course you'd insure it.

Think of yourself as a money-making machine. If a serious accident or illness happened to you, the production of money would cease immediately.

The only sensible way to protect your earning power, and therefore your standard of living, is through having what's called Disability Income Insurance. It will insure you against the odds of being disabled or coming down with a lengthy illness.

There are two main reasons why a great many Canadians in the work force don't buy their own personal disability insurance.

Firstly, a lot of people think it won't happen to me. However, the odds that sometime during your work career your earning power will be interrupted by either disability or illness are startlingly high. The National Underwriter Company reports that statistics show that about one-third of males presently aged 37 will suffer a disability of three months or more before reaching age 65.

There's not much anyone can do about preventing most disabilities. They strike suddenly, and often when least expected, and the older the person is when disability strikes, the longer the disability is likely to last.

The second reason why many people ignore the need for disability benefits available from the federal government's Unemployment Insurance Commission program and the Canada Pension Plan - or the Quebec Pension Plan in that province. As well there is Workers' Compensation, for those that are covered by that program.

In addition, if you work for a company that provides group benefit plans for its employees you may have an income continuation policy if you become sick or disabled.

If the company scheme provides for the company paying the premiums, or cost-sharing them with employees covered by the program, then your disability insurance benefits have to be reported as taxable income. But if you assume the cost of the insurance premiums, then the benefit payments are tax-free. You should check what is the system in use at your place of employment; You should check what is the system in use at your place of employment; it can make a lot of difference to your personal tax position.

As a general rule, if your employer has a life insurance and disability insurance package the program will be set up so that your contributions to the overall plan will be allocated to the disability insurance portion of it. The company allocates its contributions to the life insurance portion. In this way you would receive disability benefits on a tax-free basis.

What a lot of people may find, however, is that government and corporate disability payments are not enough to maintain the standard of living you have achieved. That is why you should consider buying on your own an additional disability insurance policy, in order to 'top off' your personal income.

Of course, if you are self-employed, it is of paramount importance to have your own private disability insurance policy. You should select one which will provide you with enough income to maintain your standard of living without you incurring any debts, or using up your accumulated savings.

Household helpers may poison your children

ASK YOUR PHARMACIST
HOUSEHOLD HELPERS MAY BE POISON TO CHILDREN

By Barry Phillips, B.Sc. Phm.
Past President, Ontario College of Pharmacists
Community Pharmacist

Poison is more than a murder weapon in a gripping mystery novel. Many helpful and seemingly harmless household products become dangerous poisons when misused.

Common headache pills, household bleaches and tranquilizers are the three most prevalent child-poisoners in Canada and dozens of other readily available products are close behind.

Anything which can be tasted, sprayed or poured by a curious child should be securely locked away. This includes all kinds of medicines, bleaches, deodorants, paints, nail polish, glue and even perfumes.

Children can't read labels and many products look alike to their eyes. They often learn by imitating adult behaviour, but children are unable to tell the difference between paste wax and peanut butter. This inability could have tragic results if such products are left within their reach.

Children are encouraged to take medicines to 'make you feel better' or 'grow up big and strong'. We can't expect them to understand medications should only be used as directed. A child wanting to 'feel better' or 'grow up strong' may take a medication or something that looks like one. To counter this threat, don't let medicines or items which resemble them to be within reach of your children at any time. The risk is too great.

Antidotes and poison control centres are the second best solutions to a program of poison prevention in your home. Take a look in your bathroom, kitchen, workshop and laundry room and read the labels on the products you find there.

If any are even remotely dangerous, move them to a secure place. It may be inconvenient to reach to the top cupboard instead of under the sink each time you want detergent or oven cleaner, but think of the consequences.

Your pharmacist can help if you aren't sure about which products around the house are potentially poisonous. Don't take chances if you're not sure. Ask a professional for advice.

I believe - this government believes - that a better future for Canada lies in firm, responsible financial management now.

Yet, despite this climate of restraint, we have not forgotten about the farm sector. Far from it. The Farm Finance Package stands as clear proof of the high priority this government places on Canadian agriculture.

We've proven it many times over. During the last federal election, our Party made a commitment to a 16-point agriculture policy. We've acted on every one of those points.

And, the list goes on.

Consumer Report

Consumers who have been swindled by sales people, ripped off by repair companies or even fleeced by friends, may find satisfaction in small claims court.

If other attempts to get your money back have failed, you shouldn't be afraid to file a claim in small claims court, says Roberta Allan, consumer advisor for the Ontario Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations (MCCR). 'Some people may feel intimidated by the thought of standing before a judge, but these courts are set up to be informal forums where everyone has an equal chance to seek justice without facing the expense of hiring lawyers.'

However, Allan stresses that consumers who feel they've been swindled should investigate other options before involving the courts. There are many laws in place to protect

Ontario residents from unethical business practices, she explains.

When a problem with a purchase first surfaces, try calm negotiation with the seller or service company. Perhaps a simple misunderstanding is to blame, or maybe the two parties can reach a compromise, Allan suggests.

Consumers who still feel unfairly treated can contact one of the Consumer Advisory Bureaus operated across the province by MCCR. Bureau staff may be able to help mediate the dispute. The advisory officers are also on the watch for blatantly illegal activities which may warrant further investigation by the ministry.

But if your problem can't be solved in these ways, you might want to consider a law suit, Allan says. 'The small claims courts are there to be used. Don't be shy about exercising your legal rights.'

Every county and district in Ontario is served by at least one small claims court, with a total of 117 locations province-wide. In 1985, a total of 118,000 cases were filed.

In general, we find the more knowledgeable people become about how our courts operate, the more they use them,' says Heather Cooper, Director of Small Claims Court Services for the Ministry of the Attorney General. 'One of the best ways to learn about the system and settle any fears is to sit in on a court case.'

Members of the public observing a small claims court session would probably see a judge sitting at a table or dais at the front of the room. The plaintiff or claimant - the person who launched the suit - would be seated to one side, with the defendant sitting opposite. A court clerk would probably be on hand. Lawyers may also be present or they might attend on their own, representing absent clients.

'It is certainly not necessary to hire a lawyer, but that's your decision,' Cooper says.

A court reporter may also be in the room, recording the proceedings, depending on the amount of money involved in the case.

The maximum claim allowable in Ontario's small claims courts outside of Metro Toronto is $1000; within Metro, the limit is $3000.

The maximums do not include any interest that might have accumulated; nor do they include court costs. These costs are usually minimal and may be charged to the losing party.

Consumers who wish to launch a claim should contact the nearest claims court for assistance on how to proceed.

The court clerk also offer general information on how to prepare a case - what documents are required, how to arrange for appearance, witnesses and basics of court procedure. The clerk will also point out methods available to enforce a judgment.

Nothing mysterious about epilepsy

By Barry Phillips.

B.Sc. Phm.

Past President.

Ontario College of Pharmacists

Community Pharmacist

The term epilepsy is derived from a Greek word meaning 'a condition of being overcome, seized or attacked.' It is not a disease or some form of 'possession', but a symptom of a disorder of the nervous system causing seizures that vary in frequency, intensity and duration from person to person.

It's not commonly known that many famous people over the ages had the condition. Included are the artist Vincent Van Gogh, writers Charles Dickens and Dostoevsky, musicians Beethoven and Tchaikovsky and politicians Julius Caesar and William Pitt.

About one in every 100 Canadians has epilepsy. Half the cases can be completely controlled by medication and another 30 per cent much improved.

The three most common types of seizures are Tonic-Clonic, Absence and Partial. In Tonic-Clonic, the person loses consciousness (with or without warning) usually falling to the ground, sometimes with a cry or groan.

Anyone witnessing such an attack should keep calm. Let the seizure take its course. Move hard or sharp objects away, but don't interfere with the person's movements. Place something soft and small such as a sweater underneath the neck and loosen tight clothing. Don't force anything between the person's teeth. Once the convulsions have stopped, roll the person over to the side to help clear the airway.

In Absence seizures, there is only a momentary loss of consciousness, after which the person resumes normal activity. Absence seizures occur primarily in children and tend to cease with age.

A Partial seizure is just that - a specific area of the brain is involved and there is only a brief, minor sensation. Some Tonic-Clonic victims have a Partial seizure as a warning signal first.

Epileptics have enough trouble with the unpredictability of their problem without having to suffer from discrimination of neighbours and employers.

If you know an epileptic, but hesitate to deal with him or her, discuss your concerns with your pharmacist or local epilepsy association. They can help increase your awareness and answer any questions you may have.

By Harry L. Mardon

One reason why the U.S. economy is so vigorous is that companies there seem to have little difficulty in attracting shareholder capital, so they can expand and modernize.

Although Canadian companies do not do so well, overall, many generate capital by selling their shares to the public. Of course, once you buy the common shares of a company, you become a part-owner of that firm.

That gives you the right to cast a vote at annual and special general meetings. If you can't be bothered to attend them, or the travel involved is too costly, you still can exercise your right to vote by signing a 'proxy' statement. This is sent to you by the corporate management with the notice of meeting.

However, if you send your signed proxy back to management, they will vote your shares in a manner which supports them should an issue come to a vote at the meeting.

The proxy system generally works well. After all, you shouldn't have invested in the company in the first place unless you were convinced it was a well-managed one. If you later discover your trust in the management was misplaced, your best course of action usually would be to sell your shares as soon as possible - provided you won't lose too much money.

There are a number of other important factors you should consider besides the quality of management, when it comes to investing in a company.

Your first step should be to select an industry sector which you'd like to invest in.

Let's suppose you decide on the food sector. One of its attractions is that it's virtually recession-proof. People have to eat.

Now it is a matter of selecting a company within the food sector which has top-quality management, few if any labor disruptions and a solid financial performance. You also will want to find out if a particular company is innovative, growth-oriented and vigorously competitive within the industry.

If you are satisfied by the answers you get to these and other questions, you probably will invest in the company's stock. In all likelihood the company you have selected will be one of the major firms in the industry.

But don't put all your investment money in a single company - or, for that matter, in a single industry sector. You should diversify your investments. In other words, spread your risk.

Many novice investors become entranced with so-called glamor stocks. These are the shares of new or relatively new companies which have enjoyed a spectacular growth in the price of their shares over a short term. Some of these firms may eventually become solid performers but many others will go into a tailspin.

Even a good number of major, well-established companies in certain industries experience sharp declines in the value of their shares. This usually occurs in time of economic recession.

For example, the forestry industry is very vulnerable to boom-and-bust cycles. The demand for wood products hinges to a large extent on the level of construction activity. In turn, construction has its ups and downs mainly due to interest rates. The share prices of forestry companies will react to these business conditions.

That is not to say you shouldn't invest in forestry. However, prepared for a coaster ride. And keep in mind that you have lost money in the stock market - comes to selling shares. If you want for less

Consumer report

Consumers facing monthly loan payments that total more than 20 per cent of their net incomes, should be wary of getting any deeper in debt, say credit experts.

If too much of your disposable income is committed to paying off past expenses, it's difficult to save money and often impossible to handle emergencies, says Ann Rowan, a credit expert with the Ontario Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations (MCCR).

According to Rowan, all consumers should set up budgets, if only to get a clear picture of how their money is used.
Once you know how much is spent on the necessities of life and existing debts, it's much easier to plan for the future.

Debts require particularly careful scrutiny. Add up all the monthly payments for loans, credit cards and any items purchased on installment plans.
Don't include mortgage costs. If these payments total more than 20 per cent of your monthly income after taxes, it may be time to start cutting down on debts.

Certainly, few people should consider taking out any more loans at that point, Rowan says.
Remember, if you
end up overloaded with loans and can't make payments, debt collectors could start knocking on the door,
your credit record
may suffer for years to come and, worst of all, you could end up borrowing yourself
into bankruptcy.

ram," says Lewis.
All builders have to be registered and each house scheduled for construction must be enrolled with the program.

Before buying, ask the construction company for its registration number and the enrolment
number of the house
you want to purchase. The numbers can be verified with a local NHWP office.

Once a new home is finished, the builder gives the buyer a certificate of completion and possession.
It should not be signed by the purchaser until a thorough inspection of the property has been done. The bul-der will usually accompany buyers
on the inspection.

Any incomplete
work or defects should be noted on the certificate. About six weeks after signing, NHWP will send you a warranty certificate.

It's important to note that the program does not cover incomplete work. If your new home is not ready for occupancy on time or if any work is incomplete, discuss the situation with your lawyer.

Most defects occurring during the first year following construction are covered by the warranty program.

You have protection against just about everything, from plumbing problems to bad roofing," says Lewis. "But keep in mind, we're talking about actual defects - construction that doesn't meet building code standards or flaws in workmanship and materials."

During the first year, any defect
should be reported in writing to the bul-der. Include your warranty number,
for the lot and plan numbers and an explanation of the problem. If the company does not respond within fourteen days, advise NHWP of the situation and conciliation will be arranged.

Homeowners with legitimate complaints are guaranteed action on their problems, Lewis says. The builder is required by law to fix everything covered by the warranty. If the company
defaults, NHWP officials will arrange for repairs and deal with the recalcitrant bul-der themselves.

During the next four years, houses are covered for major structural defects only.

What happened to Federal Budget

By Harry L. Mardon

A reader in New Brunswick and another in Saskatchewan each wrote letters in mid-May asking the same question: What's happened to the federal budget?

Well, since Financial Minister Michael Wilson introduced the budget in the House of Commons last February 26, the budgetary proposals have become enmeshed in the slow but thorough parliamentary process. It doesn't appear that the budget will get final approval until the autumn, probably late September or in October.

However, regardless of when the budget legislation is officially approved, the taxation changes announced by Mr. Wilson in February go into effect on those dates which he attached to each tax proposal. For example, effective midnight on February 26 an increase in excise taxes and duties on alcohol and tobacco products was applied. And an increase of one percentage point in the federal sales tax went into effect last April 1.

A great many Canadians will be affected by a tax increase which will go into effect on July 1 of this year. It is a three-per-cent surtax on federal personal income taxes.

However, that surtax isn't quite as bad as it sounds, especially for Canadians who are in a low federal tax bracket. Because a surtax is a tax on tax, the end effect is that individuals in a low tax bracket will pay less surtax than people in a high tax bracket.

For instance, if an individual has a taxable income of less than $20,000, the maximum federal rate of tax that person faces is 23 per cent. The three-per-cent surtax will only add an additional 69 per cent to that top federal tax rate. It would come to only a few dollars a year.

The surtax strikes more severely at Canadians in higher tax brackets, of course. For example, an individual in the maximum tax bracket has to pay a federal tax rate of 34 per cent. The three-per-cent surtax will add an additional 1.02 per cent to that top tax rate.

High-income Canadians will actually be extra hard hit this year, after the new surtax goes into effect on July 1.

The surtax is in addition to the temporary surtax the federal government introduced in its budget of May, 1985. That earlier surtax, which went into effect on January 1 of this year, was five per cent on basic federal tax between $6,000 and $15,000, and 10 per cent on federal tax in excess of $15,000. The one consolation high-income Canadians can look forward to is that the May, 1985 surtax will expire at the end of 1986.

Thus, for 1986 the combined rate of surtax will be 1 1/2 per cent on the first $6,000 of basic federal tax; 6 1/2 per cent on basic federal tax between $6,000 and $15,000; and 11 1/2 per cent on basic federal tax in excess of $15,000.

In 1987 and subsequent years, the surtax will be a straight three per cent of basic federal tax for all tax-paying individuals.

If The Shoe Fits
By RALPH HERON, Manager
Are The Shoes Outgrown?

Mothers, if you are concerned that your child may have outgrown his present shoes before he has outgrown them, bring him in for a measurement. There are two simple ways to detect outgrown shoes and we can demonstrate to you how to do it.

One is to hold the shoe under a lamp so you can see the foot print on the shoe. If the shoes are long enough, there will be light area ahead of the mark made by the longest toe. Then count the toe marks - not as silly as it sounds. Five is par, but many shoes show only four. Lacking adequate shoe width, the little toe may be forced up over the fourth toe and into the upper part of the shoe.

The second check is simply to put your hand in the shoe and wiggle to see if the great toe is digging a hole in the top of the toe box. The force required to dig such a hole is sufficient to bunzone the great toe.

100 Years Old

by Marie Hyde.
On Sunday July 6th, David Hanna of Stirling celebrated his 100th birthday.

At a gathering organized by his daughters, Frances Lee of Madoc and Agnes Dunly of Roslin, the family members reminisced, and enjoyed 'once again, the humour and camaraderie of their 'Dad and Gramps'. As well as his two daughters, Mr. Hanna has eleven grandchildren.

dren, sixteen great grandchildren and two great-great grandchildren making five generations.

Many called on Mr. Hanna, throughout the day bringing gifts, cards and plaques.

Carl Brooks of

Frankford and his team of ponies, as a reminder of Mr. Hanna's younger days, came to give him a ride in the carriage. Although he declined the ride, he enjoyed the ponies, and some of the younger generation toured Stirling by team and buggy.

Good Health in the next years, Mr. Hanna.

Footnote: Marie Hyde is a granddaughter of Mr. Hanna. She tells us that some time ago, he lived on the outskirts of Madoc for a number of years and that he looks after himself during the day but has someone on call in the house overnight.

A belated Happy Birthday Mr. Hanna.

New Heating System

Installation of the new heating system for Madoc Public School is well under way.

The flat roof has been reinforced in two areas and six-inch deep concrete pads have been poured to form the floors of two new equipment rooms. These 'penthouses' will house heat extractor fans and pumps to move hot water through miles of pipes.

The boiler room sports two new 'slate of the art' boilers, brought in piece by piece and assembled on concrete bases.

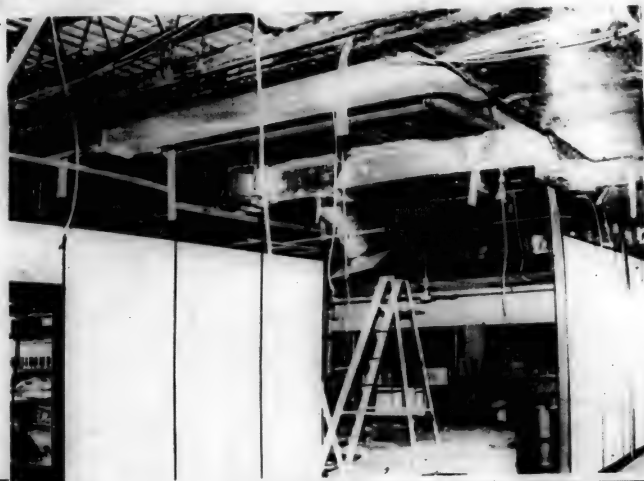

Corridors and some rooms in the school look a little like minor battle fields with exposed pipes, electrical cables and shiny new duct work in various stages of assembly where ceiling tiles used to be.

Each classroom will have independent control of heat levels and will have hot water baseboard heating as well as forced air ducts at ceiling level.

Work on the project, which will cost in excess of $400,000, is going well and should be finished on schedule.

The new system will be more efficient and will provide a more even distribution of heat throughout the building.

New Owner

Ken Rice officially took over the Canadian Tire Store last Wednesday and says he is looking forward to becoming part of the community.

Ken and his wife Shirley, together with their three daughters, Kenna, Jean, 14, Rhonda, 11, and Amy, 7, come to Madoc from Charlottetown, P.E.I. where Ken previously managed a Towers-Food City operation.

In the short time he has been here, Ken says, that he is impressed with the area and feels at home. Coming from an operation with thousands of square feet and some 280 employees, he noted that his new store is compact. He feels however that with some thirty five years experience in retailing he can put his expertise to good use to fully explore the potential it offers and has plans to improve merchandise displays without cutting into traffic areas.

'I have a good staff he said, and they have been a tremendous help in the past few days. The future looks good.'

Commenting on the fact that he is now more deeply involved in the decision making process

Ken Rice

(instead of delegating it) he said 'That's fine. I'm now working for Ken Rice instead of some-one else. The Review welcomes the Rice family to Madoc and wishes them well.

Heidi Fund Disposition

On Thursday last, Peter Gevaert, manager of the North Hastings Community Credit Union, reported that all funds on deposit to the Heidi Fund were 'frozen' after the news that Heidi had had her operation in London, and that no money from the fund had been used for any purpose.

When asked about the Canadian Press report that $2,000 had been spent on the operation, he reiterated that nothing had been paid out of the fund.

Gevaert said that the balance in the frozen account was $12,106. Asked if this figure included the $3,000 donation from a Belleville businessman and the reported $3,000 from an anonymous donor in Toronto, he replied 'No.'

Jim Clayton, of CJNH in Bancroft, who is a director of the fund said that the committee sought legal advice on the disposition of the

Heidi Home

A week after undergoing seven hours of major surgery, Heidi Morgan is home.

The surgeons have removed the bone growth that threatened Heidi's sight and was pressing on her brain. According to Heidi's mother, not all of the diseased bone has been removed as the surgeons felt that extending the length of surgery at that time might prove harmful.

Heidi is to return to London August 18th, for a steel mesh implant to ensure that her left eye maintains a normal position.

Sicily Day Ceremony

Don Ash of Madoc, dropped into the office to tell us of the recent ceremonies in Belleville in remembrance of the invasion of Sicily during World War Two.

Forty three years ago on July 10th, the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment
were part of an invasion force that Landed at Pachino in Sicily.
Don was a member of that force and well remembers the noise and confusion of that landing.

They were met with fierce resistance despite the fact that the Italian authorities had surrendered.
The Germans however, fought bitterly and inflicted heavy casualties on the Canadian troops.
Hundreds of young

Don Ash

Canadians lost their lives in this campaign.

This remembrance ceremony, held on

Commanding Officer of the regiment. As the passing years
take their toll, the number of veterans of this action dwindle but the number of people attending is maintained by wives and family members as well as any available militia units and trainees.

Don was proud to be a member of the wreath party, that laid a tribute on the cenotaph.

After the ceremonies, there was a feed of spaghetti served in mess tins. This is a traditional meal at this event and recognizes the fact that many of the Canadian soldiers who took part in the invasion experienced their first taste of the dish at that time.

Food Poisoning Awareness Campaign

With an increasing number of reports of food poisoning
coming in throughout the province, an awareness campaign on food contamination hazards is being waged by the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties
Health Unit.

Studies carried out by provincial authorities have shown that church halls are second only to the number of food poisoning cases reported. This is due in large part to the fact that there is no way to control what is served and how it is prepared from an inspection standpoint.

Bake sales are another that could pose problems with food being prepared in a variety of kitchens under different conditions. For example, using cracked eggs in a cake could lead to the spread of salmonella or other problems.

Ventilation of the food preparation
area is important to reduce airborne bacteria and the careful washing of hands before handling foodstuffs is of prime importance.

The awareness campaign is not designed to close down church suppers
and bake sales nor to stop other non-profit organizations from undertaking fundraising meals. If an organization is planning such an event, it is suggested that they discuss it with the Health Unit sometime in advance of the planned date. The Health Unit can then advise on the proper steps to take to eliminate the possibility of any health hazard.

They will check the premises, advise on preparation and storing and point the way to a healthy and worry free event.

Monuments

We know all the tricks
But we don't use them

Monuments made by different companies are not all the same. They may look the same...for a little while and then the difference becomes obvious, when it's too late to do anything about it.

Shallow or floating foundations can save you money...in the beginning, but what do you do if the monument tips?

Painted letters and backgrounds can also save you money. They look very attractive...for a little while. Then the paint wears off and they're hard to read. And there are tricks to selling cheap monuments...like salespeople who don't know or don't care about what makes a monument last.

There are many tricks. But you'll never see them here. And that insistence on quality monuments has kept us strong for 55 years.

You buy a monument so it will last. In every respect. If you're really serious about your purchase, have a talk with us...toll free.

Easter Seal Program aims to cut cycling injuries

This year more people than ever will be cycling around the cities of Ontario. Unfortunately, as the numbers increase so do the chances of injury.

Bicycling has become the number one recreational activity in Canada. Safe cycling is becoming a major public concern and the Easter Seal Society's primary goal is to prevent the number of young cyclists killed or injured in Ontario. That's why The Easter Seal Society has produced the public awareness program 'Be bike smart' designed to help the whole family be better cyclists.

Olympic silver medalist turned professional cyclist, Steve Bauer has joined the push for bicycle safety, and will for the second year be the 'Be bike smart' spokesman. In 1985 Steve completed the Tour de France placing 10th in this prestigious race and is the first Canadian to finish this 22 day gruelling event.

Canada has 8 million cyclists and more than 3 million are children. The largest number of deaths and injuries through cycling accidents occur in children 5 to 14 years of age. A study conducted at Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children, June 1, 1984 to December 31st, 1985 reports 28 percent of the trauma deaths were the result of bicycling accidents.

Because of reporting procedures, there is a suspected under estimate of accidents with minimal injuries to bicyclists. So it is safe to say that cycling injuries are a comparable. The advantages of cycling as a physical activity greatly outweigh the risks bicycles and the importance of wearing protective gear.

BE BIKE SMART

problem and that with an increase in the number of families participating in the sport, the number of accidents will increase involved in cycling. The number of accidents can be reduced through adequate education. Children can learn the proper use and care of their

ARE YOU SURE

YOU WANT TO USE A CHILD CARRIER SEAT?

Children's carrier seats can be extremely dangerous if they lack the proper safety accessories. A child carrier seat makes your bicycle unstable, affecting steering and braking distances. The Canadian Institute of Child Health does not recommend their use.

However, if you decide to use such a seat the following guidelines should be strictly followed:

- The person riding the bicycle must be experienced and competent.

- Infants less than one year old should never be carried on a bicycle.

- Children one to four years old (up to 18 kg or 40 pounds only) must be carried in a seat which protects feet and hands from spokes and minimizes the risk of falling.

- Children must be seat-belted in the carrier so they cannot climb or fall out.

- The child's head should be protected by the top of the carrier seat. Stores sell a variety of carriers so it's wise to shop around and find one that offers full protection.

- Use protective head gear for you and your child. A good helmet can help minimize head injury in case of a fall.

- Follow the manufacturer's instructions carefully.
- Seats must be firmly fastened to the bicycle frame. The seat and its

Jack Burton—the big screen's latest hero

Move over Indiana Jones, Rocky and Rambo. Here comes Jack Burton. He's the screen's newest hero in John Carpenter's BIG TROUBLE IN LITTLE CHINA.

Played by Kurt Russell, Burton is your average good guy who lives one day at a time. He drives a semi-trailer called the Pork Chop Express. Unbeknownst to him, his regular work day will be interrupted by a bizarre string of events.

Based on a story adapted by W.D. Richter, the screenplay by Gary Goldman and David Z. Weinstein has your basic plot where the forces of good battle the forces of evil. Chinese mythology, including magical powers, also figures in the story. Add a touch of humor to help relieve the boredom, and you have a decent adventure yarn.

Russell is convincing as the likable and bumbling hero. He holds the picture nicely together. The Massachusetts-born actor made his debut in IT HAPPENED AT THE WORLD'S FAIR in 1963 with the late Elvis Presley. Russell's other screen credits include the animated feature, THE FOX AND THE HOUND (1981), SILKWOOD (1983), and THE MEAN SEASON (1985).

The supporting cast includes Dennis Dun as Burton's friend, Wang Chi; Kim Cattrall as attorney Gracie Law; Victor Wong as bus driver Egg Shen; Kate Burton (the daughter of the late Richard Burton) as reporter Margo; and James Hong, as Lo Pan, one of China's most sinister villains.

Kenny Endoso, the movie's stunt coordinator, is responsible for the fight scenes which incorporate the balletic movements of the Oriental martial arts. The first fight between the Chang Sings and the Wing Kongs (Lo Pan's allies) is well staged.

Three of China's distinguished martial arts experts play Lo Pan's magical cohorts, the Storms. Carter Wong is Thunder, James Pax is Lightning, and Peter Kwong is Rain. Director Carpenter does his best to rise above the convoluted plot. As in STARMAN (1984), his strength lies in the characters.

Big Trouble in Little China is an entertaining movie.

'Molson' Big Fish Contest

Internationally renowned Canadian wildlife artist, Michael Dumas, carefully detailed painting of a brown trout is attracting many anglers to the 'Molson' Big Fish Contest, administered by the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters. A print of Summer Stream - Brown Trout is presented to every angler whose fish meets or exceeds the minimum size standard for its class.

One of many sportsmen who will be receiving the brown trout print after the contest judging in December. Steve Bond of Oshawa. His magnificent 28 1/2 inch brown trout was caught and live-released in Lake Ontario, to spawn again.

Eagle River's Virginia Tipton can claim a print with her 10 pound, 14 ounce walleye. This 30 inch catch was taken on Victoria Day from Eagle Lake while using a jig and minnow combination. Vince Vienneau of Lively, Ontario set out on Shakwa Lake, northwest of Sudbury, with high hopes. He returned home with a fabulous 34 1/4 pound lake trout and will receive his print when the contest judging is complete.

The 'Molson' Big Fish Contest, operated by the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, is open to anyone fishing in Ontario waters between April 15 and November 30.

1986. Eligible species include largemouth bass, smallmouth bass, northern pike, muskellunge, walleye, brown trout, lake trout, rainbow trout, speckled trout, and salmon. Prizes, which are won in the Live Release Category, continue to page 4A.

Why Athlete's Foot?

A study at the New York U. School of Medicine concluded that foot injuries such as blisters, caused by ill-fitting footwear, encourages fungus infections.

One hundred volunteers were subjected to direct contact with the fungus that causes Athlete's Foot. Many of the men and women with blisters, cuts, etc. contracted the infection. None of the 23 unimpaired volunteers developed Athlete's Foot. The conclusion: it is most difficult for healthy feet to contract Athlete's Foot, while blisters and skin breaks literally invite the infection. Just one more piece of evidence of the importance of correctly fitting footwear and proper foot care.

ory (for anglers who want to release their catch unharmed to swim and spawn again), and the Catch and Keep Category, include 20 Evinrude electric fishing motors, 300 Berkley Rod and Reel combinations, and 60 cash awards. In addition, one lucky sportsman will be named 'Ontario Angler of the Year' and will be presented with a 9.9 Evinrude outboard motor.

To participate in the 'Molson' Big Fish Contest, anglers must photograph their catch, weigh and measure it in the presence of witnesses, and mail the official entry form to the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters. No entry fee is required and there is no limit to the number of times a person can enter.

While most fishing competitions in Ontario are local events limited to a small geographic area during a short time period, the 'Molson' Big Fish Contest is different: it is 7 1/2 months of fishing fun you can enjoy anywhere in the province. Anglers can pick up an entry form at their favorite sporting goods store, bait and tackle shop, marina, lodge, resort, or request it by mail from the Ontario Federation.

The Thunder Pumper

A warm summer evening in the marsh can be a noisy occasion, full of chattering swallows, squabbling blackbirds, and the rising and falling crescendo of frogs. But the strangest of marsh sounds is heard only occasionally - the wild wailing love song of the American Bittern.

This reclusive member of the heron family produces a three-part pumping sound that resembles an old-fashioned stake driver or perhaps a wooden pump - hence the strange name of thunder-pumper. This series of notes, which could hardly be described as a song, is difficult to describe, much less to imitate. Perhaps the closest we can come is to imagine a deep, guttural 'pump-er-lunk' or 'plum-pudd'n'. But once you have heard the strange cry of the bittern, no written description is necessary to remember it for a lifetime.

The bittern is a solitary bird, nesting.

Easter Seal Program

 supports must be solid and rigid to withstand swerving.
 - Restrict riding to parks, bike paths or quiet streets, avoiding busy thoroughfares. Do not ride on sidewalks.

- In poor weather conditions with slippery roads and reduced visibility, the additional weight of the child can make cycling dangerous.

- Before cycling with your child in the carrier seat, try several practice runs using your child's equal weight in the seat to get the feel of the bicycle.

- A carrier seat attached to a man's bike makes getting on and off difficult.

- Practice smooth stopping and starting to maintain bike control eliminating swerving.

- Most important of all, 'Obey all traffic rules and signals'!

TIPS ON BUYING A NEW OR USED BICYCLE

- Buy a bicycle that fits your child properly. Make sure your child can put both feet flat on the ground while straddling the bicycle frame and can put the tips of both feet on the ground while sitting on the seat. Don't try to make a child fit the bike!

- If you are buying a used bike, make sure it is in safe working order: the hand brake levers are easily grasped, the bike has a chain guard, the brakes work, check the nuts and bolts and make sure the bike has good wheels and no missing spokes.

- A bicycle, like any other road vehicle, must be heard as well as seen. Make sure you install a horn or bell as a warning device.

- A white front reflector and at least one rear red reflector are necessary for riding at dawn or dusk. After dark, a white front light is required by law and a red tail lamp is recommended.

- Red reflective tape on the rear forks and white reflective tape on the front forks are advised for added visibility.

 - Regular maintenance is necessary to ensure that all parts are properly adjusted and in good condition.

ARE HELMETS NECESSARY?

They are if you keep in mind that brain damage is permanent. Whether you buy a helmet for your child or not is up to you but the cost is small compared with the possible grief from a head injury. Invest in a hard-shell bike helmet that fits properly and provides adequate visibility for your child. It could be an investment in your child's future.

WHAT ABOUT CLOTHING?

In daylight, dress your child in bright clothing. At night, yellow or white clothing is best.

Avoid loose-fitting clothing that can get tangled in the bicycle spokes.

Sturdy shoes covering the entire foot will protect the foot from injury.

A reflective strip on the helmet and reflective leg and arm bands provide additional visibility.

Riding gloves protect the child's hands from injury.

ISN'T PREPARING CHILDREN BETTER THAN REPAIRING THEM?

Children are able on a mud platform disguised amongst the reeds. Even though the adults are large, about the size of a crow, their brown and beige streaking and characteristic pose, with neck extended and beak pointed skyward, provides a perfect blend into the light and shadow of a cattail marsh. Their first line of defence against discovery is to freeze motionless, but if disturbed, they rise in clumsy flight with dangling legs and a startled crouch.

A bittern hunting looks like a bittern resting, with its stationary pose. But when the unwary frog or minnow ventures within reach, his end is swift and sure, skewered by a lightning lunge of that shining beak.

No one is quite sure yet how the bittern pumps its song, although it seems to somehow gain resonance by swallowing air. The sound seems almost literally to be pumped out.

to ride unsupervised on the street when they are able to make responsible decisions. Children under 12 cannot be expected to cope with riding their bicycles in traffic. Restrict riding to residential streets, quiet roads, bike paths and only during the day until the child is 12 years or older.

IMPORTANT RULES FOR THE CHILD TO FOLLOW - CLOSELY:

1. Play off the road.
2. Avoid riding along busy streets.
3. Ride only in daylight.
4. Stop for all stop signs.
5. Ride on the right, with traffic.
6. Make your own decisions when riding with other children.

Be your own boss on a bike. Don't play 'follow the leader'. This is the most important rule your child can learn.

Accident analysis has shown that, for children, the most common car-involved accidents stem from riding out of a driveway without stopping, not stopping for stop signs and lights, riding against the traffic flow, and turning without checking for other vehicles first.

Children riding in groups often simply follow the leader without thinking about what they are doing.

THE SIX CYCLING SKILLS FOR YOUR CHILD:

The majority of bicycle riders have only minor accidents. To keep your child part of the majority, assess their readiness to ride without supervision on quiet streets with some traffic using the following skills:

BRAKING SMOOTHLY - stop in a straight line with control of the bike.
CONTROLLING ROAD POSITION - keeping right and riding in a straight line. Riding with the flow of traffic. Watching for open car doors and not riding between parked cars. Staying at least half a metre (half a yard) from the curb.
STARTING PROPERLY - looking behind and to both sides first.

TURNING LEFT PROPERLY - looking behind, signalling clearly, moving to the road centre; making a quick turn, proceeding in a straight line on the right side after the corner.

TURNING RIGHT PROPERLY - looking behind, signalling clearly and turning at the correct speed.

KEEPING CONTROL ON HILLS - riding up hills, keeping a straight line without swerving. Riding down hills, maintaining constant road position and bicycle control.

REMEMBER - A bicycle rider is less protected than any other road user. The Easter Seal Society recommends the additional safety items mentioned. Yes, they do cost extra dollars but your child is worth it!

The Society's 'Be bike smart' pamphlet is available in French and English, free of charge to the public as well as additional background material about the program and the Society. Free copies can be ordered through Prevention Services, The Easter Seal Society, 350 Rumsey Road, Toronto, Ontario. M4G 1R8. Phone (416) 425-6220.

National Farm Safety Week

By John E. Dumbrell, President, Canada
Safety Council

July 25 - 31 is National Farm Safety Week. It is sponsored by the Canada Safety Council and Agriculture Canada
in co-operation with Provincial Safety Councils and Leagues. The aim of this campaign is to focus public attention on the hazards involved in farming
and to provide positive information on preventive measures.

This year's theme is PESTICIDE SAFETY. IS NO ACCIDENT. Pesticides are widely used in this country, not only on family farms and in agribusiness, but also in the forest industry, on industrial worksites, and in backyard gardens.
There are more than 3,000 reported incidents of pesticide poisoning each year in Canada, and the numbers are growing.

As part of this campaign the Canada Safety Council has put together the enclosed package of materials. They were developed to inform workers and the general public about the safe use of pesticides.
These materials will be of special interest to you in the media who can use them to generate
public awareness; to you in the product and equipment industry who may wish, as part of this campaign, to run
special in-serving training sessions and promotions; and to you in the farm sector and in industry who can use them
as background information or hand-outs
in your job instruction

tion training programs.

By putting these materials to use in your business or community, particularly during National Farm Safety Week,
you will help to ensure that users of farm chemicals learn how to use these products in a safe way. This will be an important and direct contribution to reducing the high toll of accidental poisonings from pesticides in Canada.

Pesticide poisoning

If all precautionary measures have been taken, it is unlikely that a poisoning will occur. However, it is wise to be able to recognize the symptoms and know what to do, just in case.

Poisoning can result from a single exposure or from smaller exposures

Personal protective equipment

Surveys carried out in Saskatchewan and Alberta show that most farmers do not wear adequate protective equipment. The choice of clothing and equipment depends upon the type of pesticide being used, the method of application, where the work is being done, i.e. in a greenhouse or outdoors, and the duration of exposure.

Here are some general guidelines on the selection of personal protective equipment. For advice on specific pesticides, read the label or contact pesticide distributors, the manufacturer, extension representatives, or Material Safety Data Sheets.

CLOTHING

Ensure that body protection matches the hazard. When liquid pesticides are used, or when there is a chance that pesticides might seep through, wear leak-proof clothing; otherwise, coveralls with long sleeves and legs, made of a tightly-woven fabric with reinforced seams are fine. Secure sleeves and pant legs with elastics so that pesticides cannot drift through openings. Clothing should be free of details like pockets and cuffs where residues can accumulate.

The build-up of residues from dusts and sprays can contaminate the wearer. For this reason, all workers should begin each workday in clean protective clothing. Never mix contaminated clothing with regular laundry. If it is not possible to launder work clothes at the end of the day, store them separately in a sealed plastic bag. Use hot water with a heavy-duty detergent and dry completely. Heavily contaminated clothing should be washed twice. Run the washing machine empty through one complete cycle with detergent to remove chemical residues.

If clothing becomes wet or heavily contaminated, remove immediately (do not wait until the job is completed) and shower well with soap.

HAND AND FOOT PROTECTION

Gloves should be worn anytime pesticides are handled. The type of hand protection is determined by the type of pesticide. Never use cloth or leather gloves with liquids. Resistant qualities of fabric coatings

Pesticide poisoning

Cont'd from page 6A over time. Symptoms will vary depending upon the type of chemical. Early warning signs of pesticide poisoning may be vague and are often confused with the flu. These include: headache, dizziness, nausea, abdominal pain, diarrhea, tightness in the chest, blurred vision, sore throat, and general muscle pain. Don't ignore these early symptoms. Quickly take the victim and the label information to a medical facility before more serious symptoms develop.

In all places where pesticides and other agricultural chemicals are stored, notices should be posted giving the address, and phone number of the nearest hospital/ambulance and fire department. Information and advice on antidotes and emergency measures can be obtained from local Poison Control Centres.

Coping with children's allergies

Soon after the birth of a baby, friends and family alike waste no time debating the newborn's inherited characteristics.
Often overlooked,
however, is the strong possibility of the baby inheriting family allergies.

Allergy is the leading chronic disease for children. In fact, an estimated one in four children in Canada suffer from some form of allergy.

If both parents have allergies there is an 80 percent probability the child will develop them, and if only one parent suffers, this decreases to 50 percent.

WATCH FOR THE SIGNALS

The greater the child's allergy probability, the sooner they display allergy symptoms. Skin rashes, rubbing and scratching, sneezing, frequent 'colds' and bloodshot eyes are signals that indicate a baby may have allergies. In older children, watch for the following symptoms:

dark circles under the eyes, unexplained fever, watery eyes,
fluctuating weight,
and a general feeling of illness.

UNDERSTAND THE PROBLEM

Skin tests are currently the most widely used method for allergy diagnosis.
Because skin testing can be an uncomfortable experience for children, often physicians will first try to diagnose the problem on the basis of a complete medical history.

If your child has allergies there are several controls that can be practiced in both the home and the school to lessen the child's miseries.
PROTECTING THE HOME

Some simple controls for decreas-ing exposure to more common problem

allergens such as dust, animal dander,
and pollen from grass and weeds are:
- furnishing the child's room simply
- items such as wool
rugs, books, and stuffed animals
collect dust and moulds.

- vacuuming and dusting regularly.

- keeping the family
pet outdoors.

- using an air conditioner and closing windows during high pollen seasons.

SCHOOL AND THE ALLERGIC CHILD

Because Canadian
children miss an estimated 700,000 school days a year to allergy, it is suggested that the following environmental controls be exercised in the school:
- send an introductory letter to the teacher early in the school year requesting an interview to discuss the child's allergy.

New hiring practices for Liquor Control & Liquor Licence Boards

A new policy governing the hiring of staff at the Liquor Control and the Liquor Licence Boards of Ontario and the hiring of provincial land registrars could be in force by the end of this year. Consumer Minister Monte Kwinter announced recently.

The revised hiring practices are outlined in four pieces of amending legislation introduced for first reading in the Ontario Legislature recently. They are the Liquor Control Amendment Act, the Liquor Licence Amendment Act, the Registry Amendment Act and the Land Titles Amendment Act.

According to Mr. Kwinter, the amendments would change the status of officers, inspectors and employees of the LCBO and LLBO as well as land registrars from order-in-council appointees to appointments under the Public Service Act.

The combined effect of the amendments will be to give the same fair and impartial hiring and employment standards to employees in these areas as are enjoyed by all other civil servants, the minister explained.

Mr. Kwinter said order-in-council appointments, particularly those within the two liquor boards, had been a source of continuing public complaint since the government assumed office last summer.

This government is committed to open and impartial hiring practices based upon the applicants' qualifications and seniority, the minister stated in the legislature.

The amending legislation does not affect the requirement that approval of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-council be given for job categories, salaries and conditions of, employment in the LCBO and LLBO.

Other amendments in the land registration legislation affect hours of operation of the land registry offices. Individual offices will be allowed flexible opening and closing times to meet local needs.

Allergies

- check the classroom for problem allergens such as dusty floors and classroom pets.

- ensure emergency medications are available for the allergic child.

- request outdoor recess be avoided in high pollen seasons.

MEDICATION TREATMENT OPTIONS

If the child continues to suffer from allergy symptoms, a variety of medications may be considered. Physicians more commonly recommend oral antihistamines to block the effects of histamine and thus help control allergy symptoms.

Until recently, there was concern cited with side effects (drowsiness, dry mouth, stomach upset and blurred vision) often associated with traditional antihistamines. These side effects frequently resulted in learning problems for school children due to decreased alertness and sedation.

However, recent advances in allergy research have produced a new generation of antihistamines which effectively relieve allergy symptoms without nagging side effects.

One of these medications, HISMALAN (astemizole) has been clinically proven to be extremely effective in the treatment of children's allergies to dust, moulds, animal dander and pollens. Because of its lack of side effects - particularly drowsiness - in addition to its simple once-a-day dosage, HISMALAN is highly recommended by allergists for use in children.

Even if allergy is a lifetime reality for many children, their legacy does not have to include the miserable symptoms of allergy.

Strict is Fair Program

The driver of this car was a victim of some-one overtaking without having sufficient room to complete the manoeuvre in safety.

This coming Civic Holiday weekend marks an anniversary. The first anniversary of the death of nineteen people who were killed in motor vehicle accidents in Ontario during last year's Civic Holiday. This weekend marks the height of the summer vacation season and is a time when cottage country traffic reaches its peak density. It is also a weekend in which the OPP will be out in full strength enforcing their 'Strict is Fair' policy, concentrating on impaired driving, excessive speed and seat belt use.

Impaired driving and excessive speed continue to be the major contributors to fatal collisions on the province's highways and were contributing factors in many of the accidents investigated during last year's holiday season.

In contrast, not a single life was lost on Ontario Roads patrolled by the OPP during this year's July 1st Canada Day Holiday.

OPP Commissioner Archie Ferguson says, 'The Strict is Fair campaign is the most effective means we have to make the coming Civic Holiday weekend as safe as possible for the travelling public.'

In a bid to save lives, the OPP R.I.D.E. Program and radar units will be used to full effect, and officers will place special attention on the use of seat belts.

Tractor pull

Madoc Minor Hockey Association sponsored another successful and exciting Truck and Tractor Pull at the madoc Fairgrounds last Sunday.

On a hot, sunny day, a large crowd of enthusiasts gathered along the fences and on the hill to watch the action as 4 x 4 road vehicles started of the days activities. There were classes for vintage tractors, modified tractors, modified pick-ups, regular tractors and so on.

Everyone seemed to be having a good time and the hot-dog-hamburger cooks were kept busy over a hot barbecue.

Power and noise was the order of the day as the drivers pushed their machines to the limit, coaxing every last inch of pulling power out their powerful engines.

This well organized pull has become a popular annual event on the part of the sponsors, and one that many of the spectators look forward to seeing.

Swimming Program

Registration was held last Friday at Campkins Pool for the final segment of this year's swim programme.

Sandra Kincaid and Heather Kehoe were on hand to take care of the paperwork but were not exactly rushed off their feet. Sandra explained that many people had registered earlier in the programme for this August segment. She added that if this registration is missed, people can still enrol their children during any of the scheduled lessons.

Under the direction of the Co-ordinator, Ailene Pigden, Sandra and Heather together with Laura Travis and Dawn Wiggins conduct the lesson for about 30 children divided into eight classes.

The youngest class, Tadpoles, are around three years old although in the July classes they had a two year old.

Emphasizing water safety as well as swimming skills, the sessions are based on the Red Cross Water Safety Programme.

A demonstration was held on Thursday night at the pool by the Red Cross Team from Kingston who showed the correct use of the Spinal Board and gave out information on Small Craft safety.

The Madoc Fire Department made their spinal board available for this demonstration and Sandra says that they have on order a spinal board that will remain available for future swim programmes. This board is used primarily to remove people from the water who have suffered suspected neck or back injuries caused by diving into water that is too shallow.

At the swimming registration table: seated on the left is Sandra Kincaid, standing (l-r) Jennifer Bailey, Heather and Brenda Sandford, Mrs June Sandford (writing out the cheque) and seated on the right is Heather Kehoe.

Holiday Hours

Offices of Cembal Publications newspapers will be closed on August 4th for the civic holiday. Regular office hours will resume on Tuesday, August 5th. Display advertising deadlining for that week's issue will be 11 am, August 6th.

Sgt. Tom St. Germain confirms that the local detachment of the OPP will be enforcing the Strict is Fair program both on the highways and on the lakes.

He reports that the local Marine Unit has had a relatively quiet season so far, and that in their patrols, they have found marine traffic to be somewhat light, with no serious incidents.

Marine Awareness Program

Since the start of the 1986 boating season, the OPP have aid more than 300
alcohol-related charges, and another 600 charges stemming from violations covering safety equipment, overloading, licensing and registration, water
speed limits, water skiing in prohibited areas and improper
operation of vessels.

So far this year, 15 people have died as a result of 13 fatal boating accidents on lakes and rivers
patrolled by the OPP.
Statistics continue to show approximately 42 per cent of the victims of fatal boating accidents had been drinking, while

74 per cent of those were legally
impaired.

Amendments made to the Criminal Code of Canada in 1985
gave police the authority to demand breath samples of suspected impaired boaters. As a result, the number of people charged with alcohol-related offences has nearly doubled this year (in the OPP patrol areas) in comparison with last year's boating season.

In all, OPP marine officers have checked more than 9,000 vessels this year and administered alcohol breath tests to more than 150
boaters.

Trudeau Peace Award

Deputy reeve
Raymond Lesage accepted the Man of the Year Peace Award on behalf of Pierre Elliott Trudeau, who because of other commitments was not able to be present. Mr. Lesage was appointed by Reeve Clemens.

'It is an honour to represent Mr.
Trudeau for his many years of contribution to the cause of international peace' said Mr. Lesage.

'If Mr. Trudeau were present (who was never at a loss for words) were asked three reasons for his interest in peace he would say Justin Sacha and Michel. The other reason would be that the nuclear age war
is at our doorstep and everyone should do what he or she can to prevent it.' He commended Roy Coul on page 7.

the International Plowing Match.

Living and working out of a converted church some thirteen kilometres north of the fair grounds, they produce some of the most finely crafted
wood work offered for sale in the province.

Working to their own designs, they incorporate imported exotic hardwoods
into practical items that are designed for everyday use.

Jewelry boxes, spice racks, spoon racks
and cassette cabinets are among some of the items they manufacture that offer
distinctive designs and appearance.

'Each item is designed to used on a regular basis,' says

Betty Van der Voort displaying one of her finished cassette cabinets.

Betty, and each item is 'use tested' by us before being offered for sale.' As she was talking, she displayed a wooden tray

which has been in use for the past two years and which looked little the worse for wear. Look for their display at the Plowing Match in September.

Cadwell and the other volunteers for establishing the Peace Park, not only for its contribution to peace, but as a tourist attraction in this area.

Pastor Keven Rooney conducted the 20th annual Peace Park Memorial Service at the Tweed Pentacostal Church as part of the regular service on Sunday, July 20th at 11 a.m. Visitors from Marmora, Kingston and Ottawa were present.

A special visitor, Annabelle Pallen, known as the woman of peace for her many poems on peace came from Renfrew with her granddaughter.

Letters were received from Jim Pollock, M.P.P. and Bill Vankoughnet, M.P. In his letter Mr. Vankoughnet indicated that changing Boxing Day to International Peace and Goodwill Day was now being considered by a parliamentary Committee and if this was not presented to Parliament this year he would introduce the bill next year.

Roy Cadwell, chairman of the Lester B. Pearson Peace Park, prior to presenting the award said 'Peace is part of the cold war. That is one reason why there are so many opinions about peace,' he said. 'Peace comes from God. War and conflict come from the evil intentions and actions of men. There are builders and destroyers in the world. The Peace Park is on the side of the builders that a better world may be produced in which our children and our children's children

FUEL FOR THOUGHT

From the time humans first learned to walk, we have constantly been looking for new and better means of mobility - and new sources of energy to make our mobility even more efficient.

For example, at Expo 86 in Vancouver this year, you can see Canada's first magnetically powered rapid transit system. You can also find out more about alternative fuels for your car, such as propane, natural gas, and even alcohol. And an entire fleet of electrically powered vehicles will visit Expo 86.

Find out what's next.

Keep informed and up to date on current technology and the future of transportation energy.

Monuments

We know all the tricks
But we don't use them

Monuments made by different companies are not all the same. They may look the same...for a little while and then the difference becomes obvious, when it's too late to do anything about it. Shallow or floating foundations can save you money...in the beginning, but what do you do if the monument tips?

Painted letters and backgrounds can also save you money. They look very attractive...for a little while. Then the paint wears off and they're hard to read. And there are tricks to selling cheap monuments...like salespeople who don't know or don't care about what makes a monument last.

There are many tricks. But you'll never see them here. And that insistence on quality monuments has kept us strong for 55 years.

You buy a monument so it will last, in every respect. If you're really serious about your purchase, have a talk with us...toll free.

Farm drainage

For some time, drainage contractors have been measuring the rate water moves through soil. Recently, they began using lasers to make topographical maps of farmers' fields.

At a seminar at Kemptville College on July 30, they'll be shown how to put that information together so they can come up with a drainage plan for a farmer in a day, says Steve Clarke, an agricultural engineer at Kemptville College.

"Once the information is in the compu-

pour out in an hour,"
says Claude Weil, Head of the Engi-

some of the technol-

Help Stamp Out...

I saw a sign on a Volks-wagon. "Help stamp out Cadillacs." Well, we've been campaigning for a worthwhile cause for years. "Help stamp out foot troubles!" You can help. Here's how: Have a size checkup regularly - don't just ask for the same old size, year after year.
You may not know this, but your shoe size changes year after year - your arches fall slightly, and even more if you're on your feet a lot. Another way, and the best, to stamp out foot troubles is to be sure your children's shoes are correctly fitted while their feet are young and perfect. We can help.
Our shoe fitters are completely trained, experienced and interested in giving your family a perfect fit every time. Join the cause. Come see us.

The Science Corner

By Nigel Bunce
and Jim Hunt College of Physical Science
University of Guelph

There are several curious differences between the two great oceans of the northern hemisphere. The water of the northern Pacific Ocean is, for example, less salty than the North Atlantic.
No 'deep water'
forms in the North Pacific, although this phenomenon is seen in the North Atlantic where the surface water cools in winter.
Cooler water has a higher density than warm water, and so eventually this surface water cools so much that its density is greater than the water beneath it, and it sinks. The cool water then spreads south until it meets another mass of cold water in the latitude of Bermuda that has spread north from the Atlantic. The question is, 'Why doesn't the same process occur in the North Pacific?'

These two observations - no deep water formation and less salty surface water in the Pacific - are closely related.
Water becomes more dense, not only when it is cooled, but also as it becomes saltier.
Thus, in the North Pacific the water is so fresh, relatively speaking, that however much it cools, it never becomes denser than the saltier water beneath it. Therefore, it can never sink below the water that lies underneath.

The obvious conclusion would seem to be that the North Pacific Ocean
must be fed with more fresh water from rivers than the North Atlantic.

The Canadian electric light

By Nigel Bunce and Jim Hunt
College of Physical Science

University of Guelph
It is universally known that the electric light was invented by Thomas Edison and patented by him in 1879. Actually the story is much more complicated. Electric light, in fact, was a technological problem whose time had come and by the mid 1800's many people were working on the development.

The carbon filament lamp patented by Edison was not originated by him, but was actually invented by Sir Joseph W. Swan in England over 30 years earlier. By 1860 Swan had produced a carbon filament lamp, but vacuum technology was not sufficiently developed to produce a well-evacuated bulb that would have a long life.

The next development in the carbon lamp actually took place in Canada and is described in an article in the magazine, Canadian Electrical News, in February 1900. Two Toronto neighbors - Henry Woodward, a medical student, and hotel keeper Mathew Evans - performed simple electrical experiments with a battery and induction coil in 1873. They produced light by the spark at the contacts of the coil, and eventually made a lamp from a shaped rod of carbon held between electrodes in an evacuated glass bulb. In order to avoid Swan's problem with bad vacuum, they evacuated the bulb and then filled it with the inert gas, nitrogen, lengthening the lifetime of the bulb considerably.

The first lamp was constructed at Morrison's Brass Foundry on Adelaide St. West. It was made in a glass tube of the type used for observing the water level in a boiler and connected to five other lamps, in series across a battery.

In England, Swan had more success, producing a lamp almost identical to Edison's. In 1881 the popular Swan lamps were installed in the House of Commons. Edison and Swan collided in the courts, but eventually settled and formed a joint company in 1883 to develop English electrical illumination. By this time, Woodward and Evans were forgotten.

Managing your money

BY H.L. MARDON

One reason why the U.S. economy is so vigorous is that companies there seem to have little difficulty in attracting shareholder capital, so they can expand and modernize.

Although Canadian companies do not do so well, overall, many generate capital by selling their shares to the public. Of course, once you buy the common shares of a company, you become a part-owner of that firm.

That gives you the right to cast a vote at annual and special general meetings. If you can't be bothered to attend them, or the travel involved is too costly, you still can exercise your right to vote by signing a "proxy" statement. This is sent to you by the corporate management with the notice of meeting.

However, if you send your proxy back to management, they will vote your shares in the manner which supports them should an issue come to a vote at the meeting.

The proxy system generally works well. After all, you shouldn't have invested in the company in the first place unless you were convinced it was a well-managed one. If you later discover your trust in the management was misplaced, your best course of action usually would be to sell your shares as soon as possible - provided you won't lose too much money.

There are a number of other important factors you should consider besides the quality of management, when it comes to investing in a company.

Your first step should be to select an industry sector which you'd like to invest in. Let's suppose you decide on the food sector. One of its attractions is that it's virtually recession-proof. People have to eat.

Now it is a matter of selecting a company within the food sector which has top-quality management, few if any labor disruptions and a solid financial performance. You also will want to find out if a particular company is innovative, growth-oriented and vigorously competitive within the industry.

If you are satisfied by the answers you get to these and other questions, you probably will invest in the company's stock. In all likelihood the company you have selected will be one of the major firms in the industry.

But don't put all your investment money in a single company - or, for that matter, in a single industry sector. You should diversify your investments. In other words, spread your risk.

Many novice investors become entranced with so-called glamor stocks. These are the shares of new or relatively new companies which have enjoyed a spectacular growth in the price of their shares over a short-term. Some of these firms may eventually become solid performers but many others will go into a tailspin.

Even a good number of major, well-established companies in certain industries experience sharp declines in the value of their shares. This usually occurs in times of economic recession.

For example, the forestry industry is very vulnerable to boom-and-bust cycles. The demand for wood products hinges to a large extent on the level of construction activity. In turn, construction has its ups and downs mainly due to interest rates. The share prices of forestry companies will react to these business conditions.

That is not to say you shouldn't buy forestry stock.

However, be prepared for a roller-coaster ride.

And, keep in mind, that you have never lost money in the stock market until it comes to selling your shares. If you sell them for less than you bought them, you'll be out of pocket. If you hold on to them, their value may rise and you will make a profit.

North Pacific colder

Surprisingly, this is not the case. It is the Atlantic, in fact, that receives more river water. The essential difference between the two oceans is that water evaporates more quickly in the North Atlantic than spreading of cool water to the south inevitably causes warm subtropical water to travel north.

It is clear that an understanding of what looks at first like a simple question requires a detailed understanding of the very complicated factors which influence both wind and ocean flow on this planet. Even today, these factors are not at all well understood.

This leads to the question of why the North Pacific has a reduced rate of evaporation. Several factors seem to be involved. The formation of the deep water in the North Atlantic feeds upon itself. Because the dense, newly formed, deep water spreads southwards, it has to be replaced, and is replaced by subtropical warm water from the south. Consequently, the arrival of this relatively warmer water in the northern latitudes warms the Atlantic waters, increases the rate of evaporation and accentuates the trend toward saltiness.

A second factor, and one almost certainly related, is the wind circulation above the two oceans. The maximum westerly flow of air in the Pacific occurs at a more southerly location than in the Atlantic. Because of this the winds are less able to drive the subtropical waters of the Pacific northwards than they are in the Atlantic. In the Atlantic the

Research funding disappoints

RESEARCH FUNDING IN CANADA

By Nigel Bunce and Jim Hunt

College of Physical Science

University of Guelph

There was great disappointment earlier this spring among university research scientists over the announced levels of federal funding for research in Canadian universities.

Research funding for science and engineering is made through three granting agencies - the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council (NSERC), the Social Services and Humanities Research Council and the Medical Research Council (MRC). The total amount of money available to the three councils increased in 1986-87 from the previous year by a little under five percent, but the base budget is scheduled to drop back to the 1985-86 level the next year and stay there until 1990-91. Even if inflation remains low until 1990, there will inevitably be an erosion in the funds available for research.

Unfortunately, the participation of the federal government and of the universities features very strongly on the Canadian research scene.

Compared with other industrialized countries, a smaller proportion of research and development is done in industry in Canada than in other industrialized countries such as the U.S.A., Britain and West Germany. For this reason, university research in Canada represents a disproportionately large fraction of all Canadian scientific research (more than half, by many estimates).

The budget of the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council is $300 million in round figures. This seems like a great deal of money for scientists to spend on their equipment, but in fact a very large proportion of this money is not spent on equipment at all, but rather in financial support to scientists-in-training (principally post-graduate students). It also has to be spread right across the country and across all the scientific and engineering disciplines.

Some of the money goes into equipment grants for specialized equipment, much of which is extremely expensive; some goes into 'targeted' research in areas of national priority such as energy, agriculture, environmental toxicology, and so on.

However, the largest part goes into operating grants, which enable individual researchers to follow their independent research programs and to provide financial support to graduate students working under their supervision. Even this year, most operating grants were cut by four percent across the board.

These operating grants are critical because they support the basic research which provides the foundation for future technology. Many recent advances in communications, electronics, medicine, etc. owe their origins to previous basic, fundamental research. In addition, the graduate students supported from these grants form the next generation of government and industrial scientists and university faculty.

Recognizing that the federal government has other problems, and other interest groups to satisfy besides scientists, the scientific community has nonetheless been generally disappointed by the federal decision to limit funding so severely.

There has been a great deal of talk in the last decade about increasing the proportion of the gross national product spent on research and development, and this was labelled a priority by the present government at the time of the 1984 federal election. It would be unrealistic to think of all this increase in going into university research, and indeed undesirable, since the imbalance in our research and development efforts compared with other industrialized countries in precisely that the proportion of research and development carried by Canadian industry is relatively low. Nevertheless,

NSERC had developed a five year plan in which a range of proposals to increase the level of funding for university research was put forward. Clearly, the plan has now essentially been rejected.

How to reduce your fuel consumption

Money-saving tips on how you can reduce your vehicle's fuel consumption and lengthen its life span will be available free-of-charge in The Car Economy Book from Energy, Mines and Resources Canada.

Since 1978, The Car Economy Book (previously known as The Car Mileage Book) has provided thousands of Canadians with simple guidelines on how to buy, drive and maintain new and used cars in an energy-efficient, money-saving manner.

The book demonstrates how improved driving habits and common sense maintenance routines can result in substantial savings for vehicle owners.

Did you know, for example, that under-inflated tires wear out faster, waste fuel and are potentially dangerous? According to The Car Economy Book, tire pressure should be checked at least twice a month, before you drive, and should be inflated to pressures specified in your car owner's manual. This simple procedure alone could reduce fuel costs by four per cent.

Removal of snow tires early in the spring and the use of radial rather than bias ply tires are also proven methods of reducing fuel consumption.

Another money-saving tip is to use the car's flowthrough ventilation instead of windows or air conditioning.

Use of air conditioning in stop-and-go driving increases fuel consumption by 8 to 12 per cent, according to The Car Economy Book. Furthermore, air conditioning units affect fuel consumption even when not operating, as they add weight to the vehicle.

Careful planning of trips can also reduce fuel costs. Often several errands can be accomplished in a single trip. (An estimated 30 per cent of fuel cost is spent on trips of less than 8 km.) And why not share the ride and costs with others? Ridesharing decreases fuel consumption, traffic congestion and exhaust emissions.

Planning also allows a driver time to reach a destination. Driving 'against the clock' leads to speeding, sharp braking and unnecessary acceleration - all of which increase fuel consumption and wear and tear on the vehicle.

Maintaining posted highway speeds, accelerating strongly but smoothly when merging with traffic, avoiding sudden starts and stops and anticipating changes in traffic flow will all contribute to fuel and cost savings.

The best advice in the book, however, is to drive only when necessary. Walking, biking and public transit are all viable alternatives to the family car. As The Car Economy Book notes, 'The car may be a necessity for you, but even a necessity can be used advantageously.'

Also available from Energy, Mines and Resources Canada is the Car Economy Calculator. This easy-to-use device features a car economy log in which distances travelled and fuel purchased can be recorded.

The new Car Economy Book will be available in September 1986. For a free copy write to the Communications Branch, Energy, Mines and Resources Canada, 8th Floor, 580 Bloor Street, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0E4.

Morton appointed lecturer at Kemptville College

Jeff Morton has been appointed lecturer in the Plant Science Section at Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology.

A graduate of Nova Scotia Agricultural College and the University of Guelph, B.Sc. (Agr.), 1981, Morton will teach turf management, plant materials for landscaping, greenhouse and fruit production, and entomology.

He expects to complete his M.Sc. in plant pathology and environmental biology at the University of Guelph by summer's end. His thesis was on the white mold in bean crops.

At Kemptville, his research responsibilities will include performing cultivar trials with apples, strawberries, raspberries and blueberries.

Before coming to Kemptville, Morton assisted with courses at the University of Guelph. At Ridgeway College of Agricultural Technology, he taught introductory horticultural courses and greenhouse production.

He did research on the control of insects and diseases in field crops, and fertility trials on crops for the processing industry: tomato, broccoli, peppers, cauliflower and cabbage.

Morton grew up on a small ornamental farm near Truro. He swims, plays water polo and has coached volleyball. He likes woodworking and has remodelled a house. He and his family will be residing in South Mountain.

MEMORIALS

FLEMING, Edward - In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away suddenly on August 3, 1985.
In tears we saw you sinking.
We watched you fade away.
Our hearts were almost broken.
But when we saw you sleeping
So peacefully from pain.
We could not wish you back.
To suffer that again.
Our hearts still ache with sadness.
Our secret tears still flow.
And what it meant to lose you.
No one will ever know.
Loved and remembered by his wife, Lois, and sons, Nicholas and Pat.

Ontario's new Family Law Act, which replaced the Family Law Reform
Act as of March 1st, 1986, introduces new concepts which revolutionize the legal relationship between spouses.

Gone is the dual concept of family assets (which generally were subject to 50/50 sharing when a marriage broke up)
and non-family assets (which were

Arts and show

There is a lot of hustle and bustling going on these past few weeks in most every County, as artists and crafts-people race to get their various projects ready for one or another, (or perhaps more than one) of the proliferation of Craft and Art Shows being held in so many communities.

One of the shows,
The Fourteenth Annual Showcase,
being held in Cloyne, Ont. is this year especially hopeful of a new high in attendance and sales. The North Addington Guild, the sponsor of the show, which is being held as usual at the North Addington Education Centre in Cloyne, commits itself to dividing ten percent of all proceeds from sales,
between the two schools of Denbigh and Cloyne. These schools use the money for things that are not included in school budgets, such as a new sound system for N.A.E.C. and they do look forward to these donations from the ## new law changes legal aspects of marriage

breakup (separation or divorce) or death triggers the 50/50 sharing. A surviving spouse who is left out of the partner's will or treated poorly can apply to have the will set aside and a 50/50 split apply instead.

The basic concept is that death or marriage breakup triggers the adding up and then the 50/50 division of property accumulated during the marriage. This includes registered retirement savings plans and entitlements to both employer pensions and Canada Pension Plan retirement benefits.

Apart from a marriage contract to exclude property other than the family home from sharing) and a will, couples can avoid complications later if they prepare a list of assets each has brought into the marriage. These assets - and any debts - won't be subject to the sharing, only the appreciation of those assets after marriage.

As for inheritances after marriage - perhaps a cottage willed to one spouse - these are treated the same way as assets brought into the marriage. That is, the value of the property at the date of the bequest is not subject to sharing with the other spouse, only the appreciation later.

There are also some other exclusions to the sharing provisions, including the proceeds under a life insurance policy and a damage award a spouse receives as a result of pain or suffering.

In addition, the courts can vary the general provision for 50/50 sharing if it is felt to be unconscionable, including debts undisclosed at marriage or what the Act calls 'reckless depletion' of family property.

If you have substantial property, it's a good idea to see your lawyer about the advisability of revising your will in light of the new provincial legislation.

Guild.

The aim of the N A Guild is two fold, being one, to provide a place and opportunity for the local artists and craftspeople to display and sell their very lovely and unusual wares, and two, to provide some extra funding to these aforementioned schools.

This year will bring some exciting new craftwork, and for those who like a family oriented- Participation Program there will be 'Summerfest' again. Sporting events.

those malicious tree limbs which (overnight, mind you)

appear right where they can assault our heads. Too often, lack of pruning knowledge lays the groundwork for the tree's premature
demise.

Where trees are to be trimmed - like
shade trees over lawns or specimen trees in the garden -
it is vital that they be pruned properly.

Limbs should not be left stubs. Many people leave stubs
out of misplaced kindness, to avoid injuring the trunk.
The reality is that such prevent healing and are the primary pathway for fungus into the tree's heartwood. The natural slope traps and leads rain water right to the tree's core, producing ultimately a rotten bowl, above which the whole tree may break off in a storm.

In the wild, such rotting hollows
provide important
habitat for racoons, woodpeckers and
cavity-nesting birds.
But when the tree-
topp will land on your house, or eliminate your only specimen tree, it's a different matter altogether.

Start by cutting the limb off away from the trunk, producing a short stub.

That way, if the limb gives before the cut is completely through, any tear in the bark won't injure the main trunk. If it's a large limb, you may have to make two cuts.
Don't worry about minor nicks to the trunk; they'll quickly grow over. But be sure to provide a surface that sheds water. If the cut is larger than 2" in diameter, a coating with any commercial pruning material will help shed water while the wound heals.

Each spring, the tree will produce a cm-orso ring of scar tissue, progressively covering and sealing the wound. Such scar tissue won't grow out over stubs. Branches can be pruned back - either to lighten them or to cut off material hanging into gardens and lawns. But don't just chop them anywhere. Cut them back to within 1cm.
of an offshoot branch.
This not only preserves form, as the side-branch becomes the new growth path; it also allows the wound to heal over quickly.

But remember,
there is no point in pruning a branch back to the point that it is shaded by more than 4 leaf-layers, or to the point where its leaf surface is too small to feed the limb. If you do, the branch will die anyway, might as well

back to the tr
the outset.
